Activity of Radicals Keeps Many W. Virginia Miners From Returning to Work

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 14.—A round-up of radical agitators in the northern West Virginia coal fields was begun today when department of justice agents, assisted by state authorities, invaded the district in which, according to state officials, Industrial Workers of the World and Russian and Austrian agitators have been spreading lawless propaganda. As a result of activity of radicals, authorities say, many coal miners have failed to return to work. While United Mine Workers' officials have announced they were "able to control the situation," state executives and coal operators said they feared trouble unless the propaganda was curbed at once.

WHISKEY MAKING OUTFIT

Still Found in Dracut Is Taken to Police Station—Farmer Arrested

A crude whiskey still, alleged to have been used for several weeks in the manufacture for sale of rye whiskey, was found in a Dracut barn early this morning by William Cullinan, chief of police of Dracut, and three U. S. revenue officers of the Boston district. John Karpoko, 45, a Dracut farmer, was arrested by the officers in connection with the find and is being held at Lowell police station. Another arrest is imminent, according to the police.

The still, which is now at police headquarters, consists mainly of a large milk can and two smaller cans, of the kind used in freezing ice cream. The method of distilling the whiskey, according to the police, is to place grain in the bottom of the large can, and then pour in a combination of molasses, water and alcohol.

Steam is then generated in the two smaller cans, which are used as boilers and connected with the large can, and this simple process, the police claim, does the distilling act.

Two Louisville, Ky., Distilleries Filing Orders Following Injunction

Liable to Prosecution if Federal Supreme Court Reverses Judge Evans

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—Two local distilleries sold whiskey openly in Louisville today at $75 a case, regardless of the war-time prohibition law. Hundreds of orders, filed before July 1, when the war-time law went into effect, it was said, were being filled by these distilleries which resumed sales following the granting of an injunction to them yesterday by Federal Judge Evans, restraining the government from interfering with sale of nearly a million gallons of "floor stock" whiskey.

Wright and Taylor, and the Brown-Forman companies which received the temporary injunctions expected to sell all of their whiskey in a hurry, it was announced. They made their sales, however, with the knowledge that they are liable to prosecution to District Attorney W. V. Gregory if the federal supreme court reverses Judge Evans in a decision it is expected to make Nov. 20.

Other Kentucky distillers apparently were disposed not to ask for injunctions and would await the supreme court's decision as to war-time prohibition law's constitutionality before trying to dispose of their whiskey stocks, which are said to approximate 40,000,000 gallons.

38 OF CREW ARE RESCUED AT SEA

American Steamer From Boston Lost in North Sea—Details Lacking

May Have Been Blown Up by Stray Mine—Crew Rescued by Mine Sweeper

THE HAGUE, Nov. 14. (By the Associated Press).—Two boats containing 38 members of the crew of the American steamer Council Bluffs have been picked up by a mine sweeper near Terschelling, according to a naval despatch received here.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Details of the loss of the American steamer Council Bluffs in the North sea, as announced from The Hague, were anxiously awaited today at the office of the Warren Transportation Co., of this city, which operated the vessel. The news despatch saying two boats containing 38 of the crew had been picked up by a mine sweeper near Terschelling was the only information the company had received.

In the absence of any definite word as to the cause of the loss of the vessel, company officials suggested the possibility that she was blown up by a stray mine. They said the 38 men picked up constituted the entire crew and they expressed gratification that all on board were accounted for.

The Council Bluffs arrived at Rotterdam from Philadelphia Nov. 4, and was probably on her way to Dartmouth for coal when lost.

40 P. C. INCREASE FOR METHODIST MINISTERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An average increase of 40 per cent. in the salaries of Methodist ministers throughout the country to meet the mounting cost of living and establishment of "minimum salaries" were announced today by the centenary conservation committee of the Methodist Episcopal church here. The new scale of pay will be in effect generally by January 1, it was stated.

The fund raised for the world program of the centenary conservation committee will provide the money for the salary increases. Those ministers whose pay has been increased by their congregations to a sufficient amount will receive no added remuneration from the church organization, the bulk of the increases being for those whose salaries have remained unchanged at low figures.

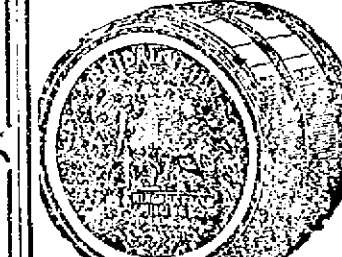

The average Methodist minister's salary was $1111 in 1918. The new average will be approximately $1500.

Pawtucket and Woonsocket Liquor Dealers Take Advantage of Injunction

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 14.—All Woonsocket liquor dealers taking advantage of the decree entered by Judge Arthur L. Brown in the United States district court at Providence yesterday afternoon, restraining federal authorities from enforcing the Volstead war-time prohibition act, threw open their doors this morning. According to officers of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association, the beer being served at present contains approximately 2 3/4 per cent of alcohol, but they expect within a few days to receive 4 per cent stock from the brewers at Providence. The board of police commissioners are maintaining a "hands off" policy.

ROXBURY RIOT CASES

Five of the Nine Defendants Acquitted—Disagreements in Other Cases

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—A jury in the superior criminal court which has been hearing evidence in the cases against nine persons charged with rioting in the Roxbury district on May day, acquitted five of the defendants today. Disagreements were reported in the cases of the other four.

The May day disturbances followed efforts of the police to prevent parades from carrying red flags.

CELEBRATING THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Davis, two well known and highly respected residents of this city, who are making their home at 417 Wilder street, are today keeping open house on the occasion of their golden wedding. This evening there will be a formal observance of the event at the home of the couple and it is expected that numerous friends and relatives will call to offer their congratulations and best wishes. A feature of the celebration is the presence of the couple's three children and 13 grandchildren. During the festivities that will take place this evening musical numbers will be given by the Davis orchestra of Holkeoye, which is composed of children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, the latter formerly Miss Lucella Peabody, were married at the parsonage of the Worthen Street Methodist church, Nov. 14, 1869, by the late Rev. George Whitaker. Mr. Davis was born in this city—Jan. 1847, while Mrs. Davis was born in Dracut in 1848. At the age of 16, Mr. Davis enlisted in Company G, 9th Vermont Volunteers, and later was transferred to Company D of the same regiment. This was in 1863 and the young man remained in the service until 1866, the close of the war, when he was mustered out.

The couple have lived in Lowell practically all the time since their marriage and for 31 years Mr. Davis was overseer at the Hamilton Mfg. Co. Some 15 years ago he became superintendent of cotton for the Hallowell-Hartford Co. Three children were born to the couple, namely: Prentiss T. Davis of Holyoke and Garfield A. Davis of Chelmsford Centre. Their grandson, Wendel T. Davis, served in the world war.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Davis in the receiving line this evening will be Mr. Roswell Fox of Dracut, who acted as best man at the wedding 50 years ago. The bridesmaid, Miss Mattie Chase, passed away a few years ago. The home has been tastefully and artistically decorated for the occasion with autumn foliage, red berries and evergreen.

Blankets are called blankets because Thomas Blanket, who introduced woolens to England in 1345, invented and wore them.

ACTION AGAINST MAYOR DISMISSED

The supreme judicial court of Suffolk county this morning dismissed the writ of mandamus proceedings brought by Harry F. Shea, a former Bay State street railway employee who sought a position on the Lowell police force, against Mayor Perry D. Thompson. City Solicitor William D. Regan represented the mayor at the Boston court this morning.

The story dates back about three months to the time when Mayor Thompson made five new appointments to the police force, all five men, being former car motormen or conductors. The quintet included: Joseph H. Cryan, 145 Cushing street; William P. Morrison, 50 Marginal street; John Reardon, 83 Beech street; Andrew H. Cushing, 120 Walker street and Harry F. Shea, whose home and family were in Boston, but who temporarily worked in Lowell.

The civil service commission on endorsing the appointments wrote the mayor that he could appoint only four men, not five, and that one of the men would necessarily have to be dropped. Mayor Thompson gave the matter considerable consideration and then withdrew the name of Mr. Shea, inasmuch as the other four were local men, while the former's home connections were in Boston.

Shea served a writ of mandamus upon the mayor, which if granted would have compelled the latter to let the original appointment stand. The matter was settled this morning when the court dismissed the proceedings.

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN! WENT COST OF LIVING

(By N.E.A. Correspondent)
HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 14.—Municipal food selling will reduce living costs. This has been demonstrated by Mayor A. B. Amerman of Houston.

Mayor Amerman started this city into the food selling business four months ago, by taking over stalls at the market house and running them for the benefit of the public. Here are the results:

Produce prices forced down 20 per cent or more.

Saving effected to consumers estimated at $600 per day.

Municipal market rapidly expanded because of heavy patronage.

Profit of $15 per day realized at lowered prices.

Only produce was handled by the municipal stalls when they were first opened. The original investment was

QUIT OPIUM TO LIBERATE KOREA

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 14.—"For love of country," hundreds of Koreans in Hawaii are forsaking opium voluntarily in order to fit themselves physically to throw off the yoke of Japan.

The records of the local police court show that many Koreans have presented themselves within the last six months to Judge J. B. Lightfoot seeking permission to enter the Oahu asylum for treatment for the drug habit.

Invariably when questioned by Judge Lightfoot, as to their reason for giving up the opium habit, the petitioners have declared that they want to get into condition to fight the Japanese.

From what can be gleaned from them the Koreans are definitely set on securing their independence and quietly every patriotic Korean is preparing himself for the fateful day.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

OPERA HOUSE

$1055. Now butter and eggs have been added to the stock, and in a short time meats will be sold. The city council recently voted the market a credit of $10,000 to buy additional equipment.

Every family in Houston has saved nickels and dimes and dollars as a result of the mayor's experiment. Establishment of branch markets in all the wards of the city is an ultimate object.

Heavy patronage has run the market's earnings up to around $15 per day even at near-cost prices. The earnings have been added to the capital.

The city-owned stalls pay the same rent as those run by private concerns. Salaries of a manager and several clerks also come out of receipts.

"By paying all these expenses, cutting prices 20 per cent or more, and still realizing a substantial profit we have shown conclusively that previous food prices were excessive," Mayor Amerman says.

"I commend the municipal market idea to any city interested in bringing living costs down out of the clouds. It is capable of great development."

CUT LINE

has a latest stage creation which is being produced this week for the first time on any stage at the Opera House by the Lowell Players. One of the most promising plays that the season has given to the stage. Crowd and audience and enthusiastic recognition given the author and engaging cast, reflect very forcibly its real worth as a vehicle of entertainment. "A Man's Job" has all of the elements that go to the making of a high class drama, and in it Mr. Mehan carries a message that should serve well its purpose to all true-blooded Americans.

The work of Mr. Mehan in the principal role, as well as the support accorded him by the engaging cast, is praiseworthy. If you intend seeing the play during the remaining performances it would be well to make reservations early and avoid disappointment. Tel. 261.

THE STRAND

"A Man in the Open" featuring Dustin Farnum, which is being shown on The Strand screen, is a wonderfully gripping story of the great northwest. It's one of Farnum's greatest picture stories, and it's the surface all of the sterling qualities this clever actor possesses. See it and be convinced.

The other feature is one of Gladys Brockwell's superior offerings, entitled "Chasing Rainbows." Miss Brockwell's acting is sincere, intense, convincing. She is well supported by a cast including William Scott, Richard Rossen, Harry Derrington, Irene Aldwyn, Walter Long and Claire McDowell.

The usual high grade comedy and weeklies is also shown during the week.

Next week's super-attraction will be D. W. Griffith's production, "Broken Blossoms," featuring an all-star cast.

B. F. REID'S THEATRE

Crisp dialogue and sprightly action characterize "Petitecoats," the Hyman comedy, which is featured at the Keith theatre this week. Grace Dunbar Nide and her associates play the piece splendidly. Miss Reidmann, the noted illusionist, creates a world of interest with her work, and Ben Bernie, a monologist, comes a lot of new phrases. Other acts on the week's bill are Henry & Moore, dancers; Jack Lavin, monologist; Guadalupe & Margaret, musicians; and Chappeil & Schmette, singers.

GETTING READY FOR WAR

Mexico Places Large Orders For Arms and Ammunition—State Dept. Acts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (By the Associated Press).—Large orders for arms and ammunition placed by Mexico in Belgium and Spain in preparation for possibility of American intervention came to light yesterday when the state department let it become known that the government had taken steps to prevent their shipment.

The charge d'affaires of the United States embassy in Brussels has protested, under instructions that shipment of the munitions would be in violation of the international arms convention. As Spain is not a party to the agreement, which was designed to aid in keeping the peace of the world during the after-the-war transition period, no such direct action is probable at Madrid.

The order in Spain, which included rifles, millions of rounds of ammunition and a large number of machine guns, were negotiated through the Mexican minister there, Eusebio Arredondo, former ambassador to the United States and President Carranza's nephew.

Long Trouble With Spain

The Spanish munitions, according to information in the hands of the government, began passing into Mexico more than a year ago while the European war still was going on and in violation of the international embargo. Rifles and ammunition and some machine guns are reported to have passed Havana on their way to Mexico as late as June of this year. For later shipments, cargo space had been reserved for Oct. 15, on Holland-American line steamers, sailing out of Antwerp and further space had been reserved for Tampico, Vera Cruz and Puerto Mexico on Dec. 3.

The United States has been denying shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico for many months for the reason that they generally fell into the hands of bandits and often were used against Americans. Soon after the end of the war, the Mexican government asked for the release of munitions bought in this country in 1917 but it was refused.

Such information now came into the hands of the government showing that Mexico already was turning to European manufacturers for her supply and since has placed enormous orders.

The information also discloses that the Mexican officials managing the

Certain Relief From Bronchial Asthma

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy

Just because you start the day tired, listless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable Asthma—do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as the "Worcester" of a Worcester, Mass. physician.

For any form of Asthma where the chest feels tight, the throat is irritated, the breathing is difficult, its heat, its annoying action is really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breathe at night, and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort this gives.

Quinine is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient disposes in the mouth, almost immediately by its action, clears out the congested air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a real comfortable night's sleep.

It is sold by Lowell Pharmacy and leading druggists, who agree to refund the purchase price of the first package if the sufferer who does not obtain a temporary relief. Asthma's sufferers should have a package at hand. It is harmless and inexpensive.—Adv.

GETTING READY FOR WAR
Mexico Places Large Orders For Arms and Ammunition—State Dept. Acts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (By the Associated Press).—Large orders for arms and ammunition placed by Mexico in Belgium and Spain in preparation for possibility of American intervention came to light yesterday when the state department let it become known that the government had taken steps to prevent their shipment.

The charge d'affaires of the United States embassy in Brussels has protested, under instructions that shipment of the munitions would be in violation of the international arms convention. As Spain is not a party to the agreement, which was designed to aid in keeping the peace of the world during the after-the-war transition period, no such direct action is probable at Madrid.

The order in Spain, which included rifles, millions of rounds of ammunition and a large number of machine guns, were negotiated through the Mexican minister there, Eusebio Arredondo, former ambassador to the United States and President Carranza's nephew.

Long Trouble With Spain

The Spanish munitions, according to information in the hands of the government, began passing into Mexico more than a year ago while the European war still was going on and in violation of the international embargo. Rifles and ammunition and some machine guns are reported to have passed Havana on their way to Mexico as late as June of this year. For later shipments, cargo space had been reserved for Oct. 15, on Holland-American line steamers, sailing out of Antwerp and further space had been reserved for Tampico, Vera Cruz and Puerto Mexico on Dec. 3.

The United States has been denying shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico for many months for the reason that they generally fell into the hands of bandits and often were used against Americans. Soon after the end of the war, the Mexican government asked for the release of munitions bought in this country in 1917 but it was refused.

Such information now came into the hands of the government showing that Mexico already was turning to European manufacturers for her supply and since has placed enormous orders.

The information also discloses that the Mexican officials managing the

SENATE DEFIES PRES. WILSON

Reservation That He Said Meant Rejection of Treaty Adopted 46 to 34

Qualifies Article 10 of League Covenant—Lodge Offers Cloture Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Squaring the issue with President Wilson, the senate adopted yesterday a reservation qualifying the obligations of the United States under article 10 of the League of Nations covenant.

A solid republican lineup, reinforced by four democratic votes, put the reservation across exactly as it came from the foreign relations committee and in virtually the language which the president declared on his western tour would ent the heart out of the covenant and mean the rejection of the treaty. The vote by which the reservation was adopted was 46 to 34.

The fight for reservations having thus been carried to a climax, the republicans presented for future action a cloture proposal designed to bring final action on the question of ratification within a week.

A less sweeping measure, proposing limitation on the reservation debate only, had been put in by the democrats earlier in the day, but rejected when the republicans voted to sustain a point of order against it.

A vote on the question of clamping down a cloture on debate will come Saturday morning, and the republican leaders say it will depend entirely on the democrats whether the move rallies the necessary two-thirds to make cloture effective.

The democratic leaders were not ready last night to say how they would vote, being fearful that agreement to so sweeping a program might imperil their chances to obtain action on a ratification resolution of their own.

Mother! Teach the Children Their Daily Health Duty

You can't be too insistent!

FEW children find pleasure in the things most vital to their physical comfort and health, so it rests with the watchful mother to see that they are done. The child will be grateful in after years.

Chief among the functions necessary to the upbuilding of the little body, so that it will not be a dyspeptic, constipated body when it matures, is elimination regularly every morning. If the mother will be insistent and allow nothing to interfere with it, it will soon become a habit, a daily routine that will not be forgotten throughout life.

There are times, however, when nature will not operate unaided. Then give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and the headaches, the biliousness, the torpor will quickly disappear. It acts gently and without griping, and as it contains no narcotics and is pleasant to the taste, it may be given to infants. Thousands of families have been regulated to healthy maturity with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

A bottle can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1. Those who already know its virtues buy the dollar size and consider it economical. In a large family there is always someone who would feel better for a dose of a good medicine like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

by the senate follows:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any troveries between nations, whether members of the league or not, under the provisions of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

In only two particulars does this language differ from the proposed reservation which the president declared at Cheyenne, Wyo. he would be obliged to regard as a rejection.

WILL FLY SATURDAY

The Armistice day parade and celebration planned in Nashua, N. H., on Tuesday and at which Wesley Keough, the Lowell aviator, was to furnish the big feature in his plane, was postponed until Saturday. The original program will be put on tomorrow and Keough plans to fly there early in the morning and pull his stunts over the route of parade in the afternoon. Afterwards he will take part in the speed carnival to be held on the fair grounds track.

Many Secret Agents
Every land sends its spies and secret agents to Warsaw, the Polish capital. Strange and mysterious crowds haunt the hotel lobby in new Poland's capital. Poland is the future "gateway to Russia," and the present next-door neighbor of the Trotsky-Lenin crowd. Russian nobles, long on diamonds and short on cash, are as thick as flies. Money lenders haunt the haunts of the old Russian nobility. Clothing shortage is most noticeable. Read Harold E. Bechtel's interesting story in The Sunday Supplement.

War on Cigarets
The principal organized force in America that is frankly in the field demanding "Tobacco prohibition" as the next step in the moral cleanup of the United States (and of the world, eventually), is the Anti-Cigaret League of America, which hopes to become the Anti-Cigaret League of the World. The league is headed by Miss Laura T. Gannon, business headquarters in Chicago, and is out for a membership in the United States of 10,000,000. It was organized Dec. 12, 1919.

S.O.S. Culls Blocked
Japanese imperil American ships and United States action is demanded. "Hogs of the Air" is the nickname now fastened upon Japanese vessels in the Pacific. American mariners whose wireless systems are repeatedly muddled by the Japanese habit of "sea chattering" have resolved to end the abuse.

Parnis for Veterans
Australia invites United States "Vets" to take up government farms. Careful state supervision and advice insure success to all who do so. Hon. J. M. Hunter, father of repatriation in Australia, says there are enormous areas of crown lands, wastefully fertile, still available for settlement for men without capital. Health, energy and a willingness to work are the sole requirements. Railways are being built to open up new sections of the country.

SEN. MARTIN'S FUNERAL

Committees From U. S. Senate and House Attend Services at Charlottesville

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 14.—Committees representing the United States senate and house of representatives today attended the funeral services for Senator Martin of Virginia, who died Wednesday, after a long illness. The senate committee was headed by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Hitchcock, Nebraska, republican and democratic leaders, respectively while the house delegation was led by former Speaker Cannon.

ARMY STORE DOING RUSHING BUSINESS

Fully 2500 Lowell people are daily taking advantage of the bargains on sale at the army store in the Bigelow plant on Market street, and incidentally handing old H.C.L. a good stiff jolt.

Armed with suitcases of all descriptions, from the snappy traveling bag of the present to old-fashioned "carpet bags" which first saw the light of day in the times of Lincoln and Grant; carts of kinds and sizes innumerable; and even a baby carriage now and again, this horde of bargain hunters swoops down on Uncle Sam's store each day, rain or shine, and never come away disappointed.

And not alone is it the so-called laboring man and woman who are taking advantage of this sale which has been in progress for many days and which is expected to last until Christmas time. Many representatives of Lowell's well-to-do class may be found driving up in autos; doctors, lawyers, preachers, business men and, yes, newspapermen, too.

Besides bargains in foodstuffs, there are blankets of various kinds—of which many prudent folk are making overcoats and makinnaws—rubber hip boots, articles, combination overalls, gloves, underwear, shoes and many other articles of winter clothing.

The articles are in great demand at present. These sell at the modest price of $2.25. The hip boots are marked at $5.25 and the overalls at $2.50. Firemen and policemen, particularly, are taking advantage of these last named articles.

Join in New Attempt To Take Petrograd

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 13. (By Associated Press.)—The Baltic states conference at Dorpat has been advised that Finland has decided to aid General Yudenitch with 30,000 volunteers in a new attempt to take Petrograd within the next few weeks.

This development late today, may seriously interfere with and perhaps speedily bring to an end the efforts of the Baltic states delegates here to reach an agreement with the Russian Bolsheviks.

HOME MAKING, HOW TO BECOME GOOD WIVES TAUGHT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Courses for newlyweds and engaged girls are being given by Teachers' college, Columbia university, which has a "practice apartment" equipped so that four of the students and one teacher live there for a period long enough to put their knowledge to actual test. The course has been running for three years.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Cincinnati has started a class for engaged girls and newlyweds at East night school in the Woodward high school. The class is under the direction of Miss Grace Hobson, for years a teacher of the household arts.

BY BEATRICE JACKSON
NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Teaching girls how to keep house when they find the "right man" and decide to set up a home—that is the latest innovation in New York public schools.

A model apartment—five rooms and bath, including the cutest little, nursery imaginable—constitute the equipment at the Washington Irving high school, where Miss Ada Roe, instructor in charge of the "home-making" course, teaches how to make future husbands happy.

More than a thousand students are taught home-making here during the season. All girls from 14 years of age upward, are given this course.

Her Own Home
"The real girl of today, the real 'human' girl, wants a home of her own, and she wants to know how to furnish it and keep it well ordered," said Miss Roe, as she led the way from room to room of the model apartment. "The girl who looks forward to marriage and a home is no longer satisfied to plunge in with no previous knowledge of what is expected of her. To meet this need, our course was instituted. A girl begins to ponder over these things when she enters her 'teens,' and so we have made it a high school course."

There should be no more drudgery to housekeeping for girls who have taken the course at Washington Irving. And the future brides get much more than a mere knowledge of how to buy, how to plan, how to make beds and clean rooms. The apartment is furnished in good taste, and at the same time with strict economy. The girls absorb instinctive knowledge of colors, draperies, arrangement of furniture and artistic decoration.

Like Stage Settings
Miss Roe has covered every detail of the "perfect apartment," from the selection of the furniture, to the problem of ventilation and sanitation. The rooms are like stage settings, built without the front walls. It is like looking into a doll house, or peeping into the furnished apartment of a happily married pair of newlyweds. "You would be surprised how many of my girls come back to me with their little difficulties and worries and talk them over," said Miss Roe. "And I am gratified and delighted when I get an invitation, as I often do, from one of my former pupils to visit her in her own home, and find there a working-out of the household problems on lines that I have taught that girl in high school."

Able to Afford
The model apartment is just such a one as the young couple of modest means would be able to afford. There is a dining room, nursery and bath. The furniture is simple and durable. The care of the furniture and of different metals, and methods of their preservation are taught. The selection of wall paper and hangings of colors restful to the eye is carefully studied. The cooking is a part of the domestic science course, and works in with the model apartment with great success.

The Nursery
The sunny room toward the south has been selected for the nursery, and it is fitted up with a crib and all the necessities for the care of the baby. The girls bring their baby sisters and brothers to serve as models, but when no real live baby is available, dolls take their place.

"We teach our girls that the finest and healthiest babies have their little rooms with plenty of pure, fresh air," said Miss Roe.

Dish Washing and the Spread of Disease

The following article in today's health letter prepared by the United States public health service, deals with dish washing:

The importance of careful dish washing has been demonstrated by investigations carried on at army camps.

There are two general methods of cleansing the eating utensils in the army—one by which the dishes are washed in boiling water, the other by the "old line method" in which each soldier washes his own kit in water which is never boiling, and may be merely luke warm, and which has previously been used by his comrades.

The results of an investigation relative to about 65,000 troops have been reported in a recent issue of the American Journal of public health.

Where the "old line method" was used, groups of about 200 men used common water which was never boiled, but reached a temperature of from about 100 to 120 degrees F., the number of bacteria in the dish water becoming higher as successive men used it.

At Camp Stuart both systems were in use, about 1000 men eating from tinware washed in boiling water, and nearly 2000 using the older method.

During the influenza epidemic, these two systems were put to the test.

In the first group, the proportion of cases of the influenza was 46 per thousand and in the latter, about 293.

These findings are still further emphasized by a comparison between the prevalence of influenza among the men in the Officers' Training school at Camp Lee, where the men were in close class-rooms but had their dishes washed in boiling water, and at other schools which were held for the most part out of doors but used the individual dish washing method. The rate of influenza infection was found to be five times greater in the latter group.

Similar facts were reported from a comparison of 12,500 soldiers at Fortress Monroe and of 800 men at Langley Field, which showed a ratio of four to one in favor of the former where boiling water was used.

At Lee Hall Ballston school the comparison of a total number of 33,452 using boiling water and 32,642 using tepid water has shown 1710 and 5203 cases respectively.

This investigation has been carried further and its principles applied to civil life.

In restaurants and stores the rate was found to be nine and thirteen per thousand among employees where boiling water was used, compared with 240 and 84 per thousand where the hand method of dish washing was employed.

These facts should be remembered and their lessons more generally heeded, especially when there is sickness in the house.

Q. My sister has been in poor health since the birth of her baby three years ago and her physician tells her she has an ulcer. Would mineral water be good for her?

RED PILLS are especially suited to women and young girls who are pale and thin, tired and nervous

Pale, Weak and Nervous

I was very nervous, pale, and so weak that I could not even digest my food right. The physician who was attending me had definitely told me that he did not expect to be able to cure me, but simply to give me relief. My case was called: "Nervous indigestion." Just one of my relatives still had confidence, for she was a fervent believer in RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, and finally persuaded me to give them a trial. I took them regularly and was pleased to notice a decided improvement after a few months of treatment. At the end of a year, my different ailments had gradually disappeared and I began to take on flesh. As my household duties are rather trying at times, I have resolved that I will take a couple of boxes of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women from time to time, just to keep my strength up.

Mrs. ALBERTINE LEFEBVRE

RED PILLS, Her Friend for Fifteen Years

It is now fifteen years since I first became acquainted with RED PILLS, and I may safely say that they have been my salvation during that time. I was the mother of fifteen children, so that my daily duties were indeed very strenuous and at times trying. I was tired and feeling ill at ease. RED PILLS proved themselves once again, they helped me to regain my strength, saved me from any serious sickness and made me fit to attend properly to my various household duties.

RED PILLS, the Best Tonic

Being the mother of seven children, and having to attend to all the household duties, besides looking after my children, I naturally gave way and became weakened; and suffered severely from indigestion. Having so often read of the various cures effected by the use of RED PILLS, I decided to give them a trial, and after taking them for three months, I was delighted to notice that I was getting stronger and that my health was improving in many ways. Since that time I have firmly made up my mind that I will always take RED PILLS whenever I feel the need of a good tonic to build me up.

manufacturers of mineral waters or patent medicines. If you are not satisfied with the treatment prescribed by your physician, why not tell him so frankly and ask him to suggest some specialist. In the long run, to pursue any other course is disastrous.

Q. Can you advise me regarding the merits of electricity as applied to the treatment of human ills, especially nervous weakness?

A. The value of electricity in the treatment of human ills, especially nervousness, is variable, but electricity is by no means the sovereign remedy for "nervous weakness" that the general public has been led to believe, especially by advertising quacks. Inasmuch as reputable physicians do use various forms of electricity to advantage in the treatment of various disorders, it is suggested that you consult your local physician and have him advise you.

A MESSAGE To All Who Need Wearing Apparel

We feel that the cost of wearing apparel has risen beyond all reason and that many people are going without needed apparel because the cost is prohibitive. It is not necessary to go into a discussion of the causes of these abnormally high prices for they are beyond our control—but we have determined to create an era of lower prices and have brought the price of wearing apparel down to a level that is within the reach of practically everyone. Please understand this is not a sale of odd lots, old styles and broken sizes, but an offering of all new merchandise fresh from the manufacturer.

THE $100 BONUS

For Men Turned Down Because of Physical Disability

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 14.—For the benefit of the large number of service men who have not been given the bonus of $100 because of their discharge from cantonments and naval bases by reason of physical disability, Representative Edward F. Harrington of Fall River will introduce a bill into the special session of the legislature convening next week proposing that these men be specifically included within the provisions of the bonus law.
Another measure which will be introduced by the same member will call for the payment of the gratuity to those boys who were inducted into the service by the draft boards but who automatically became citizens again by their not reaching cantonments or naval bases before the expiration of the armistice on Nov. 11 of last year.
Mr. Harrington was led to introduce the bills, he says, because of the large number of men in his district who have served several months in training camps but who eventually were discharged because of some physical disability.

"There are at least 100 of these men who have spent many months in government service from my district but who have been refused this bonus because they happen to have been finally turned down for physical reasons," said Mr. Harrington in discussing the question today. "I do not believe that the state is doing the square thing by them for they have up as much as any other service man in order to answer the call of their country."

The attorney general's department says Mr. Harrington has ruled in a large number of instances that these men are not entitled to the gratuity because of their discharge.

At the state house today he told the attorney general's office that in his opinion the ruling was "absurd" and expressed the belief that his opinion is shared by all the other members of the legislature.

MISSIONARY CIRCLE; UNION MEETING

Mrs. A. C. Archibald, wife of Rev. Mr. Archibald of the First Baptist church, who has received a call to the First Baptist church of Brookline, was the principal speaker at a union meeting of the Woman's Missionary circle of the First Baptist and North Tewksbury Baptist church held at the home of Mrs. Frank B. Trull, 752 Andover street, Wednesday afternoon. During the meeting Mrs. Archibald's resignation as foreign secretary of the woman's home and foreign mission work of the Merrimack Valley association was accepted, and Mrs. John Thorne elected to fill out the unexpired term. Mrs. Archibald's talk dealt mainly with the need of more funds to carry out the missionary program for the ensuing year and her remarks proved most interesting. Mrs. Fannie B. Trull, president of the Lowell circle, presided.

A Cheerful Recommendation

"They are the best I have taken and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with constipation or biliousness." They thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and benefit the liver. They correct indigestion, bad breath, bloated, raw coated tongue and other results of sluggish bowels. No griping; no nausea.

Those in charge of the supper were Mrs. W. E. Hlackley, Mrs. W. O. Dickerman, Mrs. Eugene Dunbar, Mrs. Fred W. Jones, Mrs. B. N. Alexander, Mrs. Arthur Gilbert and Miss Eva Fielding. The pastor, Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D.D., called the roll.

MYSTERY CLUB DANCE

Uses Common Yellow Mustard for Chest Colds and Sore Throat

Old Fashioned Simple Home Remedy Much Used by Doctors and Nurses for Inflammation, Congestion, Aches, Pains and Swellings
Mustard, real yellow mustard, the kind you use at home, is being used more than ever to banish distress and misery and free mankind from agony and suffering.
Not very long ago people used to make yellow mustard into a paste, spread it on a cloth and apply it to that part of the body where pain or inflammation was present.
It surely did do the work it was expected to do, but it was messy and bothersome and often blistered the skin.
People still use yellow mustard when they get a cold in the chest or have pleurisy, lumbago or rheumatic pains and swellings.
But nowadays they buy this yellow mustard in condensed form all ready for use for something like 30 cents a box and find it much better, cheaper and cleaner than mustard plasters.

EXAMINATIONS FOR CIVIL ENGINEERS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 14.—As new men will be needed in the civil engineer's service of the state and of the various cities and towns the civil service commission has decided to hold an examination on December 3 for all applicants desiring to enter this service. The salaries accompanying the positions will range from approximately $3600 a year down to $720.

As far as practicable the examinations will be held in the following cities: Fall River or New Bedford, Pittsburg, Haverhill or Newburyport, Lowell or Lawrence, Pittsfield or No. Adams, Boston, Brockton or Taunton, and Springfield and Worcester.

The tests will be divided into four grades. Grade A, in which the compensation ranges between $720 and $1070 a year, is for engineering assistants, drafting assistants and rodmen, who perform under instruction and supervision elementary or apprentice work in the field or office. The applicant must have successfully completed one year of training in an engineering course at an institution or college of recognized standing, or one year of practical experience in field engineering work.

Grade B, in which the compensation is not more than $1525 a year, is for senior engineering assistants, instrumentmen and draftsmen who assume responsibility for the execution of definite instructions in some minor work, or who direct, under supervision, the operation of minor engineering projects. The applicant must have such training in civil engineering as is evidenced by a professional degree after a standard course of instruction at a college of recognized standing or he must have such practical training as will meet with the approval of the commission.

Grade C, in which the compensation is not more than $2330 a year, is for assistant engineers, assistant civil engineers, and designing engineers who assume responsibility for the design of structures.

Grade D, in which the compensation is not more than $2330 a year, is for senior assistant engineers, senior design assistant engineers and senior design engineers responsible for the work of a main division of an engineering organization, who can make investigations relative to these and who can give advice on large projects. WHAT SIZE IS WOMAN'S FOOT?

Another entry in the race for popular discussion---this time the shoe dealers.

with large feet, may argue that figures of the average foot size of Chicago women have been grossly exaggerated in the past.

Others may turn flippant with allusions to the fact that foot size matters not if the woman in question is the "right" one; or that what counts is the manner in which a woman stamps her feet when angry.

But a sure effect promises to be that the shoe dealers' announcement of the average size of women's shoes worn in various cities spells misery for many women and excess profits of chiro-podists. For now women may try to squeeze their long-suffering feet into shoes below the average size in their respective cities.

LOW HEELS OR HIGH?

The "common sense" heel for women is good, especially for those who are on their feet for long periods, say, wholesalers of women's shoes, but it will never do away entirely with the "dress" heel, they think. Needless of the fact that high heels have been, for years, the target for almost as much publicity, in the way of reform, as have cigarettes, they continue to be made—and worn. Women continue to wait, then, dealers say. Hence they are manufactured.

POLICEMAN MURDERED

Three Negroes Rushed Out of Wilmington, Del., To Prevent Clash With Mobs

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 14.—Three negroes, Lemuel, James and John Price, brothers, were taken to Philadelphia today by the police to avert a possible clash with mobs of enraged citizens. The negroes are charged with murdering a policeman last night and wounding another officer.

The sale of firearms in the city has been stopped and negroes have been warned to keep off the streets.

The murdered policeman was Thos. L. Seeley, Harry C. Pierce, the wounded policeman, was shot three times and is not expected to live.

The shooting occurred when the two patrolmen went to the Price home to investigate the theft last week of scores of guns from a gun store. The negroes were in bed, but drawing revolvers from under pillows they started shooting. Seeley was instantly killed while Pierce staggered to the street where he fell.

Atty. Gen. Hinchard of Delaware has issued a statement calling on the citizens to await action of the law. He said a special session of the grand jury would be held Monday and the court would meet Thursday of next week to dispose of the negroes' cases.

COLOMBIA TO CELEBRATE MEXICAN HOLIDAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Mexican national holiday Sept. 16, has been made a state holiday in Colombia. The senate of the latter nation by resolution, has decreed that such an honor should be paid "our suffering-sister republic," advice reaching Washington today said.

An album also has been sent to the Mexican foreign office containing the signatures of 5000 Colombian university students, lauding Mexico for her attitude toward foreigners, having reference, it is believed here, to the controversies between Mexico and the United States, over the attempted confiscation of properties owned by Americans. In the dedication of this album Mexico is called "the gentile of Latin-American nations."

SHIPMENTS OF INFERIOR BUTTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Despite the high price, butter consumers are in many cases getting large percentages of water, salt and coloring matters, officials of the bureau of chemistry, agriculture department, announced today. Several shipments of inferior butter have been seized recently under the federal food and drug act, the statement said.

Federal standards require that butter shall contain not less than 82.5 per cent milk fat, yet all the butter seized, it was declared, has contained less than 80 per cent, with a corresponding increase in the percentage of water, salt and coloring matters.

BARTLETT SCHOOL TEACHERS' SALARIES

It has been called to the Sun's attention that considerable misunderstanding has arisen because of an article concerning the salaries of the teachers in the Bartlett school under the new contract between the city and the state. Much of this misunderstanding The Sun's informant states is due to the use of the word "bonus." This word as used in the contract means a sum of money given in payment for definite work performed by the teachers of the practice school in training normal school students. Practically, this particular type of bonus has been paid to the teachers ever since the normal school was established.

The new contract must not be interpreted as an arrangement whereby any appreciable increase in salary is to be paid to the teachers. As a matter of fact—with the exception of two or three cases—the amount of increase over present salaries is only $10 a year. As to the salary of the principal, it may be interesting to note that the bonus mentioned in the new contract is the exact sum which was paid by the state to the principal of the practice school in 1918.

WILLIAMS VS. WALSH

The clash between Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, was the bitterest perhaps of the entire discussion of the treaty questions. Williams is noted for his aggressiveness in debate and his power of invective. Recently he made a bitter attack upon the Irish race, taking exception to the claims that men of Irish descent took any great part in the revolution or even in the Civil war, quoting figures originally given out from a prejudiced source and long discredited.

As he was sleeping upon a chair in the senate before he made this attack, Senator Walsh hinted that in view of Williams' condition, his tirade called for no reply. The inference was, that the southern senator was in a drunken stupor. But whether drunk or sober, he watched for an opportunity to launch an attack upon the junior senator from Massachusetts, and he put into it all the vim and invective for which he is noted.

Senator Walsh, in replying to his namesake from Montana in relation to Article X of the treaty, happened to say that he was "the offspring of a subject race" which should not be held in subjection by any provision of the League of Nations.

That was the pretext upon which Williams attacked Walsh's Americanism, charging that he was serving the interests of a subject race rather than of the United States or the state that sent him to the senate.

Flushed with indignation, the Massachusetts senator promptly delivered an eloquent and heated reply, refuting the imputations of his assailant by sound logic and argument that outweighed the flippancy and sarcasm of his adversary.

The senator further explained his own descent from a subject race and defended his reference thereto as follows:

"I stand here as a descendant of a subject race. If it pleases you better, sir, I will speak more plainly. I stand here as the son of an Irish-immigrant mother and father. Is that un-American? Have we not heard from the lips of the senator repeatedly of the Welsh ancestry that he came from, and have we not heard him boast of that ancestry? Dare not an American come to the United States senate and raise his voice in protest against America changing its policy toward subject races?"

He presented arguments in defense of his stand upon the treaty, speaking at considerable length against the insinuation that he was influenced by other than the most patriotic American motives.

But, perhaps the most notable incident in connection with this debate was the compliment paid Senator Walsh by Senator Lodge when in the course of a brief speech, he said:

"I can say this in addition: No matter what race he springs from—and he springs from one with which the world is familiar, a race of great talent and brilliancy—he is as good an American as I know. I do not think it is necessary to go back and examine every man's genealogy and ancestry to determine whether he is an American. The tests for that are very different, and rest on a man's conduct or his loyalty to the United States in peace and war, and upon his adherence to American principles."

It is very rarely indeed that any senator pays such a high tribute to a colleague of an opposite political party whose course in most cases he has to criticize or condemn. But Senator Walsh has greatly strengthened Lodge's position on the treaty by taking a stand almost precisely similar, and of course sternly opposed by the supporters of the administration.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor made a grievous blunder when he advised opposition to the court injunction against the miners' strike. If the A. F. of L. wants to retain its great power, it can do so only by upholding law and order, not by opposing both.

It does not lie in the mouth of Mr. Gompers to say that any court injunction is not based upon law or justice. The proper course for him and the organization of which he is the head is, to comply with the law and the orders of the courts. If he thinks that the laws are unjust, nobody knows better than he the course by which they can be changed or amended.

The executive council of the Federation of Labor charged the government with bad faith in proceeding against the miners under the Lever act, claiming that a pledge was given when that law was enacted, that its provisions would not be used against labor organizations in strikes or lockouts. If such a pledge were given, it was not a matter of record and could not have been offered by anybody with authority to speak for the law-making power. Nobody has any right to offer any class exemption from any law on the statute book, a fact that is also well known to Mr. Gompers.

In the Clayton anti-trust law, an exemption was provided in favor of organized labor so that the law does not apply to labor disputes. If, however, any labor organization becomes a menace to the public, congress might repeal this provision of the Clayton law, which would doubtless be fully as embarrassing to A. F. of L. as is the Lever act.

It is plain, therefore, that the council was treading thin ice when it charged the government with bad faith, and equally so Mr. Gompers in advising the miners to oppose the court injunction. During the war President Gompers rendered valuable service to the nation by using his influence to quell or prevent labor troubles; but at the present time when conservatism is equally necessary, he seems to have changed his policy, apparently losing sight of the fact that if he sets out to oppose the government in any form, his efforts, whether intentional or otherwise, will count on the side of the radicals. In times like these, it is just as well to remember that those who are not for the government are against it. We do not believe Mr. Gompers has any sympathy with the radicals, and if not, he should be careful not to place himself in a false light by coming out in open opposition to the government.

NEW JERSEY UPHOLDS LEAGUE

"The election of Edwards carries a warning to republican obstructionists in the United States senate," observes the Newark News, the leading independent daily of New Jersey in commenting upon the democratic victory in the president's home state. Conceding that there were two important local issues in the campaign, The News reminds that there was a third issue—deliberately injected into the contest by republican leaders.

"This issue," says The News, "was the issue of the repudiation of the League of Nations. By inviting Senators Borah and Johnson here, two of the most irreconcilable league wreckers; by the statements of Edward Casper Stokes, republican state chairman, the voters were informed that an attempt had been made to inject a national issue into the campaign and the republicans at Washington and in the state would count the election of Mr. Bugbee, republican gubernatorial candidate, as an approval of the senate's course toward the treaty and a forecast for 1920. Mr. Stokes went so far as to say that on this issue he would concede 1920 if Edwards, democratic candidate for governor, were elected. Senator Frelinghuysen, through Bugbee, campaigned here for support of his attitude of opposition.

"They have their answer, which they can carry to the obstructionist republicans in the senate, says The News. They cannot now dodge that as an issue, because they made it an issue, and it made votes—for Edwards. Neither the issues of personality, nor prohibition, nor the public service as presented, are quite sufficient, wholly by themselves, to account for such an overturn in a distinctly republican state. Mr. Stokes and the republicans in the senate raised the point that helped to decide the indifferent and unconvinced."

The New Jersey overturn may bear a warning to republicans who seem determined to carry the treaty issue into the national campaign of next year.

THE STRIKE ISSUE

One great issue that is involved in the railroad question now before congress, is the prohibition of labor strikes by railroad employees, and by the same rule lockouts.

The Cummins bill before the senate has an anti-strike clause, but the Esch bill, favored in the house, does not go so far in this direction. At the time the Adamson law was passed, President Wilson asked for a provision of law that would deal with labor disputes and demands of railroad employees for higher wage and better working conditions.

At that time he recommended that "in case the methods of accommodation now provided for should fail, a full public investigation of the merits of every such dispute shall be instituted and completed before a strike or lockout may lawfully be attempted."

It is quite probable that in his message to congress in December the president will renew this suggestion as a via media between those who want strikes absolutely forbidden in all public utilities and those who would plod on as we have been doing at the mercy of the more radical elements that manage to force the declaration of strikes.

It is highly probable that this middle ground will be favored as a compromise. It would undoubtedly lessen the number of strikes and provide a mode of settlement before any strike could be declared. This is in line with the law relative to labor conflicts in Canada which has brought satisfactory results.

JUSTICE TO THE MINERS

By their action in calling off the strike, the coal miners have earned the sympathy of the American people, and there is a very strong sentiment in favor of granting them full justice, not only in wages but in improved conditions and more steady employment.

The miners complain that they are thrown out of employment whenever the operators see fit to suspend operations in order to force up the price of coal or to await a clearance of the supply on hand.

The government assumed a very arbitrary, though necessary, course for the purpose of bringing the strike to an end, and it should now use its influence with the operators to grant the miners the most liberal terms possible. It should be demonstrated by actual results that when a body of men such as the miners, comply with the government order to abandon their strike, they are not going to be the losers in the long run. The public wants justice done to the miners and looks to the government to see that this will be the outcome of the negotiations now in progress between the parties to the conflict.

RUSSIAN SOVIETISM

It would be difficult to determine just how any set of men ever adopted such wicked policies as are now in operation under the direction of Trotsky and Lenin in Russia.

Some time ago, they declared in favor of nationalizing the women of the country and although the policy has not been carried out to the full extent, yet, it is in operation and its enforcement will depend upon the power of the government to overcome the opposition of the people in having their women dragged from their homes and commercialized by government authority.

"The children are torn from their parents and huddled together in large buildings where they are not allowed to communicate in any way with their parents lest they should be influenced against the ruling authorities. They are to be brought up under the Soviet doctrine that there is no God and no master except the rule of Trotsky and Lenin. They are treated like the young of lower animals but with less regard for their well-being.

It is hard to understand how these monsters have thus far escaped assassination. The people must have utterly lost all spirit of resistance, if they submit to such inhuman treatment under the new forms of tyranny which are far more cruel than anything ever perpetrated by the czars.

OUR NEW CONSTITUTION

The Massachusetts Civic Alliance submits to the voters of Massachusetts that what has been adopted at the polls on Tuesday, may not be the final word in the revised constitution. It quotes from a statement of Herbert Parker in the official report of the convention thus:

"I should say to him (Mr. Bryant) that no one would attempt, as we conceive the significance of this new instrument, to construe it as the constitution of this commonwealth without comparing the original text of the constitution and amendments with the re-arranged text.

"For the purpose of determining such construction the documents must be examined in comparison one with the other."

It is unthinkable that any committee in charge of rearranging the constitution so as to unite the amendments with the body of the old instrument to form one whole, should have given to the public any such rearrangement without the most careful comparison and certification that while the amendments are all included no unrepented provision of the old constitution has

"The Quarrelsome Clock" (Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.) There were six small hours which wouldn't stand still. But were always on the run. And just as they started down the hill, The quarrelsome clock struck one.

The clock struck one, and two, and three; He put in some terrible ticks, And down at the end of the hill, dear me! The quarrelsome clock struck six.

He chased all the other hours up hill; He made them climb and climb; And whenever he caught them standing still, He struck them every time. Struck! ev! try! time!

Then ten hours stood at the very top And two more came to call, And before anybody could make him stop, The bad clock struck them all. He! struck! them! all!

And when he had worked his wicked will, I gave him a frightful frown, So he left the hours at the top of the hill, And the quarrelsome clock ran down.

The clock ran down.

And he growled "Eight hours you make me go. And I never take time to play. But what would you do, I'd like to know, If I struck for an eight-hour day? An? eight? hour? day?"

First Woman Smoker

It is said that the first white woman to form the habit of smoking tobacco was Mary Frith, an English woman, better known to her contemporaries as "Moll Cut-Purse," who was born in 1555. In her time pockets had not been invented and gentlemen carried their money in purses worn at the girdle.

"Moll Cut-Purse" early became an adept in the art of cutting the strings of purses without the knowledge of their owners. She always wore men's clothing. Despite her dishonest methods of making a living, she was good hearted, dividing her spoils liberally with those in need.

In ancient prints she is usually pictured smoking a pipe, and she was undoubtedly the first white woman to proclaim publicly her allegiance to "Lady Nicotine." She lived to be nearly 80, and at her death left a will requesting that the remainder of her fortune be spent in merrymaking at her funeral.—Syracuse Herald.

Looked Suspicious

An American admiral, used to tell the following story against himself. He had a congressman for a guest, and, having run out of his favorite brand of whiskey, made up with some he could not guarantee. He explained this, and added, "Here, however, is some brandy that I've kept untouched for a good deal more than 20 years."

"Hand me over the whiskey decanter," was the rejoinder. "Why?" asked the admiral. "What's the matter with the brandy?" "That's what I want to know, Bob," said the guest; "but if you have had it untouched in your possession for more than 20 years, there must be something pretty bad the matter with it."—Edinburg Scotsman.

UNIONS TO ASSIST IN R.R. MANAGEMENT

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George has offered the Railwaysmen's union membership in committee management of the roads with railroad directors and government officials according to a statement by J. P. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Mr. Thomas announces that the government also has made a definite offer of new machinery to deal with wages of railway men and settlement of disputes. Both offers were made at a conference of the premier with a delegation of the National Union of Railwaymen Thursday. The plan will be submitted to the executive of the union today for decision.

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY ARMY CHAPLAIN

Coming together in a social way for the first time since the United States entered the world war, members of St. Peter's Holy Name society held an enjoyable smoke talk last evening in the parish school hall in Gorham street and listened to an instructive address by Rev. Fr. Leydon of Cambridge, a chaplain of the regular army, who saw extensive overseas service.

Rev. Fr. Leydon tendered his services to the government before the country had declared war, and accordingly was with the A.E.F. from the time its first transport of troops landed in France. His information was first hand and most illuminating. He paid a high tribute to the doughboy for the hardships that he endured and told of the difficulty in identifying troops who had fallen on the battlefield.

Other speakers included Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's, who told of the rampant spirit of Bolshevism and urged his listeners to do what they could to combat this evil; Rev. Francis J. Shea, Rev. Peter Linehan, John J. Gilbride, Daniel Cosgrove, David Gerow, John P. Sadler and Bernard D. Ward.

Mr. Ward was toastmaster of the evening and was introduced by President Michael Heatherman. Commensalors James E. Donnelly, Francis Gorman, Raymond Kelley and Charles A. Carey entertained with songs, and Edward Quinlan and Richard J. Lyons with recitations.

The piano rendition of "The Palms" by Francis Gorman was a real hit of the evening. The exercises closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire assembly.

The committee in charge was composed of the officers of the society assisted by J. J. Watson, Michael J. Monahan and Richard Lyons.

SMITH RELEASED

ON $5000 BAIL

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Even while Marshal N. Smith, 20-year-old ex-paying teller of the National Shawmut bank was being arraigned yesterday morning in Central court answering to the charge of having stolen more than $2600 from the bank, federal authorities were awaiting the report of the bank examiner prior to their taking charge of the prosecution of the youth. Smith's arraignment yesterday was marked with the pathetic for, even after he had been released on bail of $5000 for a continued hearing on Nov. 26, his acknowledged sweetheart and fiancee, Miss Ethel M. Michaud of Somerville, expressed by her every action complete faith in "her man" and it was obvious that her hope of a happy marriage on November 24 had not vanished completely.

Smith himself was even more demonstrative than Miss Michaud and was frank to state that he would marry if "she sticks with me." Following a lengthy conference with Attorney Edward Creed, who is defending the youth, Smith and his sweetheart strolled from the office arm in arm, apparently happy in the brief respite granted the lovers whose romance appeared so ruthlessly shattered when Smith was arrested on Wednesday.

Letter From Miss Howard

As is to stimulate the determination of Miss Michaud to stick to her avowed lover yesterday came a letter to her from Miss Florence M. (Betty) Howard, former co-worker with Smith in the national Shawmut, who was his companion on his trip west and during his stay there, protesting that relations between the two were "perfectly proper" despite the statement of police that Smith and the vivacious New Bedford girl had been living in Venice, Cal., in a furnished apartment as man and wife.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AT COLONIAL HALL

It was a huge and appreciative audience that greeted Troupe Sans-Gene of Worcester in Colonial hall, Middlesex street last evening. This troupe of artists came to Lowell under the auspices of Club Citoyens-Americains and they presented "La Tabouilleuse," a four-act drama known on the American stage as "The Honor of the Family."

"The Honor of the Family" was played in this country a few years ago by Otis Skinner, the great English artist, after being translated and at that time it made a very successful run in New York and other large cities. Now it is being presented in the language in which it was written.

Troupe Sans-Gene is composed of artists who have been particularly trained for the production of "La Tabouilleuse" with Miss Sarah H. Girardin of Worcester in the title role. The other members of the cast are all clever and all help materially in a successful presentation. Between the acts, as a little variety, members of the troupe entertained with songs and readings and these numbers were also thoroughly enjoyed. During the evening Harpold's orchestra of this city furnished excellent concert numbers.

PIGS ARE BARRED

FROM BOSTON TOWN

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Pigs as pets, garbage consumers or economy measures cannot be maintained in the suburb of Malden, after Jan. 1, according to the board of health. During the war, backyard pig pens were considered patriotic, but during a long, hot summer their popularity has waned.

MEN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell's "lightning" barber, who asserts that he can give a customer a shave, hair-cut, singe, shampoo and tonic in eight minutes, pulled a new one on us today. We'd like to tell you who he is, but as he made his startling statement to us in strict confidence we must respect his wishes and allow him to remain incog. We're always had a good deal of respect for his opinions, too. Only the other day he told us where we could find five pounds of sugar. Trouble was, though, that when we went to the place designated we found several policemen standing guard over it, so we had to return empty-handed.

However, what we started out to say was that friend Barber told us today, seriously and with convincing earnestness, that Uncle Sam had overlooked a good bet when he had neglected to organize the barbers of Lowell—and the rest of the country—into an auxiliary of the secret service. Naturally this rather surprised us. But after Lowell's "fastest" had explained his idea in detail we began to see that his point was well taken.

"Twins never look alike to barbers," said he, the while he deftly clipped a small section of our left ear with his shears. "Even when their own mother can't tell them apart a barber always knows which is which. In shaving a man or cutting his hair we become so familiar with all details of his features that we remember him for years. We learn to recognize minute facial peculiarities which cannot be recorded by Bertillon measurements or any other method in vogue in police circles. The mark of identification," he added, "may be a combination of wrinkles which an ordinary detective never would have noted. But we observe and remember."

He smothered us with a steaming hot towel at this point, and when we came up for air he was explaining to a fired business man why the price of chickens was so high. So we promised to pass the idea along the line and came back to the office to heat up our remuneration for six or eight hours more.

"Got an odd copper, mister?" The speaker is a somewhat rugged little urchin who almost one just outside the entrance of almost all the local theatres. He explains, if one stops to talk with him, that he is just one copper shy of the price of admission. But if we give him the aforesaid copper, he doesn't go inside. No, he tackles his next victim with the same persistency. Perhaps he finally does enter the playhouse, but it is only after he has secured many more coppers than is necessary to satisfy the girl in the box office and not alone at the theatres does one find him. His name is legion—and then some. Outside of bowling alleys and pool rooms, hovering in the path of advancing crowds at polo games and boxing matches; at baseball games in summer and football games in fall, one is sure to see him. But no matter where discovered, he is usually an unqualified pest.

If you want to find out anything, ask somebody who knows. This rule holds good in practically all lines of activity and so when I wanted to find out something about moving pictures I went to a local movie theatre manager. "Are we going to have more or less moving picture houses in the future?" I asked. "Is the big fellow going to swamp the little fellow?" I had heard a lot of talk about this and had read many articles which included such intimation. The theatre manager said that it was a certainty that the moving picture theatre which does not belong to a chain of houses will soon have to give up the ghost for the simple reason that producers are going to rent their pictures to the men who can guarantee them the longest showings. For instance, the man who says to the producer that he has 40 theatres on his circuit and can keep a certain picture running for three months without any further worry on the part of the producer, is going to get first chance at the new pictures. The little fellow with one or two houses who says he'll keep a picture going three or four days but can't promise anything longer will have very little hope of booking any of the new pictures. That's why the forward-looking theatre men are connecting with circuits.

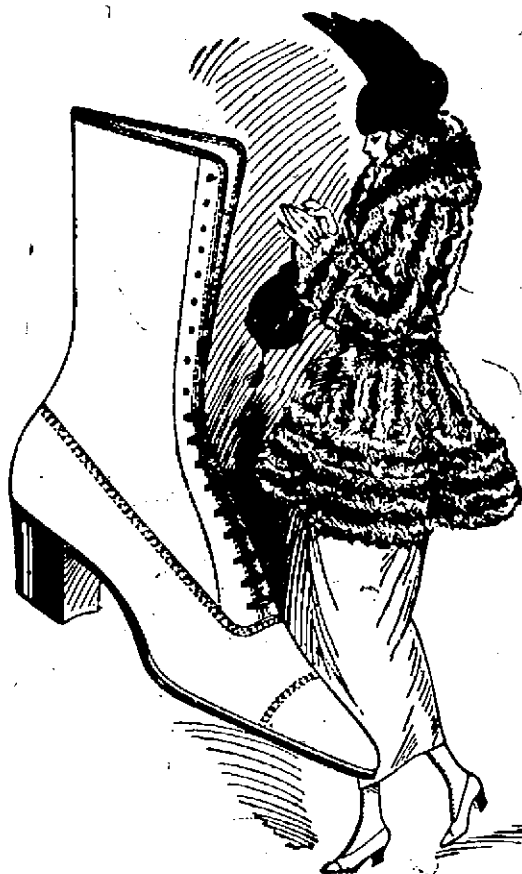

While going across the Pawtucket bridge a few days ago I noticed that the storm guards are already in place, but some of the residents of the district claim that the guards are on the wrong side of the bridge, but of course that is not the fault of the present commissioner of streets, for the fence as one might call it, was first placed where it is when the bridge was completed, and naturally the present head of the department followed the same course this year. I am informed that the proper place for the guards on both the Pawtucket and Moody street bridges would be on the north side rather than on the south. There may be some difference of opinion regarding the points of the compass as the two bridges do not run either north and south or east and west.

There certainly was a marked difference between the way Armistice day was celebrated in Lowell in 1918 and the manner in which it was observed Tuesday. A year ago there was noise all day long and the streets were filled continually from early morning until late at night. This year the day was comparatively quiet and not until the theatre-goers began making their way to the matinees did the downtown section begin to assume a lively appearance. As a matter of fact, the theatres played the biggest part in the local jubilation. All the else to do. But a year ago, what a host of foolish things everybody found time to do! The services in the churches lent a quieting effect to this year's observance in comparison with that of a year ago. Armistice day was a year old and had to conduct itself with the dignity becoming age.

PRINCESS

TELLS HER PRINCE TA-TA

Britain Treats Princess Better Than Did Her Royal Egyptian Hubby

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Princess Oia Hassan who was Pearl Oia Humphrey of Oakland, Cal., is to get one million dollars from the British government. It is to come from the estate of her husband, Prince Ibrahim Hassan, cousin of the deposed khedive of Egypt. The American-Egyptian princess is the daughter of a California furniture manufacturer. She went on the stage and played on Broadway in a number of successes, under her stage name of Oia Humphrey. Her first play was "The Fatal Wedding."

Her marriage to the Egyptian prince took place in London in 1911. They went to Paris on their honeymoon. Six months later the unhappy bride was back in London seeking a divorce. He demanded unquestioning obedience, regarded her as a plaything, refused to buy her clothes, and finally beat her, she declared.

The princess brought action against Ibrahim in 1912, but due to the war remained unsettled. When the former khedive fled from Egypt, the prince's estate fell into the hands of the British government. The princess is now the matter through our state

RIGHT TIME OF YEAR FOR WINDOW BOX

Now is the time of year that a window box is most practical. In the winter food will freeze if kept in the outdoor temperature, so ice is necessary unless there is a cupboard in the pantry that can be used for storage.

If it is possible to put the window box on a north window it is advisable to do so. The box can be used more months in the year.

Unless one has a specially constructed, dust-proof box, greater care should be taken in putting food away than with a refrigerator.

There are metal boxes shown in the stores that are inexpensive. The saving in ice soon pays for one.

But the "handy man" can manufacture a perfectly good window box from a packing box the size of the window. A shelf will increase the storage space, and a paper lining help to keep out dust.

MENU FOR TOMORROW

Luncheon—Baked beans, brown bread and butter, apple sauce, tea.

FRENCH GIRLS AND OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Mlle. Verlet, the "Little Belgian Queen of Song," as she is called in her home near Brussels, is surprised that Americans should ever have thought for a minute that the French girls would win our soldier boys away from us.

"You would not like it if we did not appreciate your boys in France," she says in her quaint way. "All the same your boys will not forget you. While they were thinking how nice those French girls were, they were thinking about their own girls at home, too. And now that they are home you see they have forgotten all about the French girls."

Mlle. Verlet will give a concert in Associate hall on next Wednesday night. She has an international reputation and comes to America direct from the Paris Grand Opera. We are fortunate in having this chance to hear the famous Belgian.

MEN'S CLUB HEARS

WAR CORRESPONDENT

Frank P. Sibley, war correspondent of the Boston Globe and narrator of the exploits of the Yankee Division in France, received an enthusiastic greeting at the Grace Church Men's club last evening when he talked for nearly two hours on his experiences as a newspaper writer at and near the front lines.

He spoke particularly of the censorship in France and of its unfairness in many instances to newsmen, who worked hard to convey welcome words to the folks back home. He extolled the spirit of the American soldiers and said that their presence had more to do with the revival of the morale of the French than any other factor. The latter part of his address was devoted to citizenship service and arguments against universal military training. He was intensely interesting for he furnished his talk with thrilling anecdotes and untold tales of bravery and sacrifice.

During the early part of the evening the members of the club had supper together in the parish house.

CHINA STRUGGLES

WITH DOPE EVIL

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—The anti-opium sentiment, which reached its height a decade ago and promised the extinction of the narcotic in China, has completely subsided. Laws prohibiting the drug traffic are ignored and millions of dollars worth of opium are annually smuggled. The latest evil is morphine, imported by Japanese.

PLEDGES OF FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN NOVA SCOTIA AND MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Pledges of friendship between the province of Nova Scotia and the commonwealth of Massachusetts were given last night on the occasion of the visit of Lieut. Governor MacCallum Grant of Halifax, who spoke before the Victorian club.

"A closer bond than ever unites the two communities," Lieut. Gov. Grant said, "and should the call come the two Anglo-Saxon nations of the world will again join forces to crush any enemy that may threaten."

Among the other speakers were Lieut. Gov. Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts and George William Bentley, president of the British naval and military Veterans' association.

GREAT INTEREST IN DANCING CONTEST

Announcement of the plans for the big Merrimack Valley dancing championship contest to open here on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, has brought a number of entrants and those in charge expect a big turn-out of the leading dancers in all cities and towns surrounding Lowell.

Word comes from Lawrence and Haverhill that many of the best terpsichorean artists in those two cities will come here to compete, while it is expected that all of the local leaders will enter the contest. It is the desire of the managers of the contest to have every one who thinks he or she has a chance to win the championship to send in the names and appear at Associate hall on next Tuesday night.

There will be two hundred dollars in prizes distributed, ten dollars to the winning couple on the first night, and the two succeeding Tuesday nights. Then these winners, with the others who come in second and third, will appear in the grand final contest

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often

due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as Nitro-Phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, Nitro-Phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing. Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Nitro-Phosphate has brought about a magic transformation with me. I gained 15 pounds and never before felt so well."

CAUTION:—Although Nitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase appetite, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

in charge feel confident that their efforts to establish the logical champion dancers in his section will be successful.

Miner-Boyle's orchestra has been secured to furnish music for the contest numbers as well as for the general dancing which will follow.

Lowell entrants may send their names to The Sun office, in care of W. Sullivan.

PLANS MATURING FOR HOME WELCOME

All Pawtucketville is aroused over the fast maturing plans for the celebration which will officially welcome home the service men of that section of the city. A meeting of the general committee was held in the Pawtucket Congregational church chapel last night and ways and means for raising additional funds were discussed.

A tag day will be held tomorrow to solicit money for the erection of a memorial monument in Pawtucketville and already 100 workers have offered their services to sell tags in the downtown streets. They will meet at Associate hall at 9 o'clock. The house-to-house canvass is going on every day and all authorized solicitors have signed credentials to identify their connection with the committee.

The prize committee reported last night that a ton of coal and 25 pounds of sugar have been donated and will go to holders of lucky tickets. D. T. Sullivan gave the coal, while the sugar was secured by Mrs. Lilla Bernard and Miss Mary Cryan. A considerable sum of money was raised at the recent dance, while the entertainment given at the Pawtucketville school on Armistice day was largely attended.

Treasurer William Rigby reported last evening that nearly $300 was at hand toward the fund for the celebration banquet. This fund is entirely separate from the monument fund. Harry P. Graves offered his services in the design of the memorial monument and a rising vote of thanks was given him. Cornelius Cronin suggested that all Pawtucketville Civil war veterans be invited to the banquet as honored guests and this was enthusiastically received and endorsed. Many other routine business matters were disposed of before adjournment.

Dancing masters say that the end of the war has increased the dancing craze threefold.

AUTO GETS BLAME FOR RURAL BADNESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—At a session of the National Country Life Association, Warren H. Wilson of New York, chairman of the committee on religion and morals, reported that physical and moral damage was being wrought in rural districts by invasions of joy riders, vicious elements, driven from cities, and their way into the country by motor and contaminating farm and village dwellers, Mr. Wilson stated.

TEWKSBURY CHURCH QUESTION

At a meeting of the members of the Tewksbury Centro Congregational church held in Pickering hall, Wednesday evening, the vote to take no further action on the building of a new church until the annual meeting in January was rescinded and it was voted to have the building committee confer with the architect, Mr. Bixby, relative to the plans and to receive bids, a meeting of the church to be called later to give the committee further instructions. The meeting was presided over by Rev. H. B. Mason, while Mrs. Mabel Cameron acted as clerk.

200,000 SOVIET FORCES

No Enthusiasm in Moscow
Over Bolshevik Advances

—Men Who Fall Back Shot

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Because of the serious lack of food in Bolshevik-controlled Russia and other economic difficulties experienced by the Soviet government, not much real enthusiasm is felt in Moscow over the forward movement of the Bolshevik forces, according to advices received today by the state department.

The despatches said that due to the lack of morale in the Soviet armies Trotsky recently ordered forces following the Bolshevik armies to fire on any red soldiers who fell back. The Soviet forces were said to number only 200,000 men distributed on the various fronts.

FEAR BIG ORE

CARRIER LOST

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 14.—From reports of wreckage off Manitou Island at the tip of Keweenaw Point, it is feared the big ore carrier, John Owen, reported overdue, was lost in the heavy gale that has raged over Lake Superior through the week. From the description it is believed that the wreckage was part of the upper works of the Owen. Coast guards are patrolling the shores on the lookout for survivors.

The gale which continues with heavy snow is said by lake men to be the worst so far this year on the upper lakes.

FARMER-COALITION CABINET IN ONTARIO

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The government of the province of Ontario today passed into the hands of the farmer-coalition cabinet, headed by Premier Ernest Charles Drury. The premier and his colleagues were sworn into office by Lt.-Gov. Sir John Hendrie.

Only one member of the new cabinet—Benjamin Bowman, minister of lands, forests and mines—was a member of the last legislature and none of the others have ever had seats in the Ontario house.

$125,000 FIRE

AT NEWPORT, N. H.

NEWPORT, N. H., Nov. 14.—Damage estimated at $125,000, was caused by a fire in the Richards block, the principal business building of the town, early today. A bank and four stores were temporarily put out of business. In addition, the building contained lawyers' offices and lodge halls, all of which were damaged.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very enjoyable party was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, 40 Gorton street, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of their son, Henry Wilson, who arrived yesterday at the sixth milestone on life's highway. Henry was born Nov. 13, 1913, and, like President Wilson, he is not the least bit superstitious about "13." The birthday observance included a pleasing entertainment consisting of solos by Miss Charlotte Preston, Mary Mullaney and Thomas Molloy. The guests of honor, so to speak, were Henry's playmates at the Sycamore school and included Catherine and William Brocklebank, Bella and Ethel Littlefield, Evelyn and Everett Harris, Rose and Iva Mullaney, James Norton, Marguerite and Charles Preston and Elizabeth and Gilean Hunt. Refreshments were served at 8 o'clock by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

DEMANDS OF R.R.

BROTHERHOODS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Conferees for discussion of the demands of the four railroad brotherhoods for revision of working conditions, which have been in progress between the brotherhood chiefs and Director General Hines all week appeared today to be nearing an end. Railroad administration officials believed arguments would have been completed within 24 hours. There was no indication, however, whether Mr.

Hines would give an immediate answer or reserve his decision.

The principal question remaining in dispute is the demand of the brotherhoods for time and a half for overtime for trainmen in road service. Labor leaders admitted this to be the pivotal point, but they seemed to feel that a settlement was in sight. Questions of wages, which, at first, were not involved in the direct demands were brought in today. Neither side believed the differences on wages would precipitate prolonged difficulties, however. Mr. Hines was said to have stood steadfastly by his previous declaration that no general advance in wages could be given without serious consideration, owing to the imminent return of the roads to private operation.

SEASON NEARING END TYLER TO LOSE TEETH

Three Titanic Struggles on Greater-Boston Gridirons Tomorrow Afternoon

All But Two To Be Yanked — Cause of Pains in Arm, Says Expert

The 1919 football season swiftly is drawing to a close. This grand finale comes in another week when Harvard and Yale clash in the Cambridge stadium, but for several of the large college teams tomorrow is the end. It has been a season of surprises, of enormous crowds, of revival interest after the disturbing days of war and has been featured by the presence of two or three unusually strong and brilliant combinations of players.

One of these sterling eleven, perhaps the most spirited and courageous in the east, ends its year tomorrow afternoon with its eyes pointing toward the championship—it is the Dartmouth team, at present torn apart by late season injuries, but still a Dartmouth team, big, lightning fast, resourceful. This eleven, knowing not the meaning of defeat, faces a worthy opponent in Brown at Braves field, Boston, tomorrow afternoon. It is the wind-up game for each team.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—George Tyler, southpaw pitcher for the Cubs, had an early appointment with a dentist for day and before the end of the day he expected to have only two teeth left in his mouth.

The pitcher, who did little work for his team last season because of pains in his arm, spent several days of the present week in a hospital at Rochester, Minn., where an expert examined his teeth and declared that the lameness in his arm came from "tooth sickness" which had formed on his gums. Tyler has been living in Lowell for the past several years. He formerly pitched for the Lowell New England League club.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT IN LYCEUM HALL

The C.Y.M.L. basketball team opens its season tonight in Lyceum hall, Suffolk street, with the South Lawrence A. A. against the Lyceum. The local boys always have boasted of a strong combination and it is certain that this year's team will well uphold the prestige gained in other seasons. The visitors come well recommended and should provide a tough game for the Lyceum.

The lineup of the C.Y.M.L. team presents some familiar faces, Martin and Foley will play the forwards, Randall and Flynn, backs; either McLaughlin or Lane centre, while Keyes is held as a substitute forward. Thomas Maloney, manager, has been coaching the Lyceum team, and has arranged games with St. Mary's of Cambridge and St. Mary's of Lynn. Also there are games pending with Plymouth and Concord, N. H., and a trip is planned through the Granite state.

ABOUT THE BOXERS

The Unity A.C. of Manchester, N. H., has an attractive card arranged for next Tuesday evening. Two Lowell boys are on the program. In the main bout of 12 rounds Joe Egan of Rochester will meet Frank Carrara of New York. In the semi-final Frank Mullins of Lowell and Kid Sheehan of Manchester will appear. Young Gardner of Lowell and Young Condit of Manchester will perform in one preliminary and Young O'Neil and Young Dempsey, both Manchester boys, will exchange wallop in the other six round event.

Billy Mulvey, who is anxious to stage a "come back," is still waiting a reply to his challenge to Young Alf. Mulvey says that if given a week to train he will tackle any man in the vicinity at 140 pounds.

Jack (Young) Norton, of the B. & M. cayshops, accepts the challenge of Joe Nelson, and says that he will meet him any time and at any club. "I will box him if he weighs a ton," says Norton.

Pekin Kid Herman, who is now in Lowell, is looking around for bouts. He came east in the expectation of landing several good matches. His record looks good and he should have little difficulty in keeping busy.

BUSINESS BRISK ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS

LAWRENCE AND LOWELL MEET HERE TONIGHT

The Lawrence polo club will come to Lowell tonight to play the Harkins crew at the Crescent rink. These two teams have already met twice this week, each winning a game. Lawrence defeated Lowell Monday night 3 to 0, while Lowell won on Tuesday afternoon by forfeit, 2 to 0. The rivalry between the two clubs is at a high pitch, and a red hot game is expected. Davies who was suffering from boils in the other two games will not be in the Lowell lineup, but Slater, a fast, hard working performer will be in his place. Slater played with Lowell the other night at Fall River and put up a fine game. The locals are out to win tonight and will start right off at the sound of the whistle. Lawrence, too, is confident of victory. A large crowd is expected to turn out.

POLO NOTES

While Lowell and Lawrence have always been great rivals, recent incidents have served to increase the rivalry between the ancient foe, and a red hot game is looked for this evening.

A large delegation of Lawrence fans, who now believe their team will win the pennant, will come to Lowell to cheer their players on to victory. Lowell's supporters will be out in large numbers to root for the home club.

Slater, who is filling in at first rush, owned to Davies' indignation, is an experienced player and working with Davies is bound to show at his best. He worked well for Worcester last season and the year before played with Lawrence.

PRINCE OF WALES CALLS ON PRES. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Wilson dropped up in the great mahogany bed in which Baron Renfrew, later King Edward VII, slept when he visited Washington in 1860, greeted yesterday, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, the grandson of that British monarch.

The prince was taken to the president's sick room after he had had tea with Mrs. Wilson and the president's daughters, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre. The visit to the White House followed a motor trip to Mount Vernon where the youthful heir laid a wreath on Washington's tomb and planted a young cedar before the resting place of the leader of the American colonies in their struggle with England.

Soon after the president and the prince had exchanged greetings, the president noticed that his visitor was looking closely at the massive old bed and told him the story—how the prince's grandfather had slept in it when he was entertained at the White House by President Buchanan, and of how it was the bed in which President Lincoln slept during his years in the White House.

The president inquired of the prince as to his father, mother and grandmother and mentioned particularly the pleasure with which he received a cablegram from Queen Mother Alexandra.

The meeting between the prince and the president was much the same as might occur between any healthy, normal boy with a keen sense of humor and a middle-aged statesman whose cares have not driven the gift of laughter from him. The president laughed heartily at the vivid and humorous account the prince gave of his experiences since his arrival on the American continent. The British heir was very enthusiastic at the warmth of the reception he had received in the United States. The conversation between the two covered a wide range of subjects and after the prince had left Rear Admiral Grayson said that the president's spirits had risen as the result of the visit and that he had enjoyed it greatly.

Professor H. Strauss, M. D., of the Royal Charity Hospital, says, "The cause for an attack of gout, rheumatism, lumbago, is supplied by the increase of uric acid in the blood serum, the result of various causes, the most frequent of which is renal. Before an attack, one suffers sometimes from headache, neuralgia, twinges of pain here and there."

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, when the back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach; or you have rheumatic pains or lumbago, gout, sciatica, when the weather is bad, do not neglect the warning, but try simple means. Take six or eight glasses of water during the day, then obtain at your nearest drug store "An-uric" (anti-uric acid).

This is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. "An-uric" is an antidote for this uric acid poisoning and dissolves uric acid in the body much as hot coffee dissolves sugar. "An-uric" will penetrate into the joints and muscles, and dissolve the poisonous accumulations. It will stamp out toxins.

GRAND DUCHESS CHARLOTTE PRINCE FELIX

ROYALTY TO WED IN NOVEMBER

Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg and Prince Felix of Burton-Parma, are to be wed November 6. The fact that Prince Felix served in the Austrian army, in opposition to his brothers, Sixtus and Xavier, who fought with the Hungarians, brought considerable opposition to the marriage.

Grand Duchess Charlotte distinguished herself at the close of the war by giving a real welcome to the Americans when they marched into Germany as a part of the armies of occupation.

Middle Aged Women

Women should take warning from such symptoms as heat flashes, shortness of breath, excessive nervousness, irritability, and the blues—which indicate the approach of the inevitable "Change" that comes to all women nearing middle age. We have published volumes of proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest aid women can have during this trying period.

Read About These Two Women:
Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general rundown condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. Gouden, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and my Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HANSON, 1316 South Orchard Street, Urbana, Ill.

200 Lodged in Jail

No. 17, United Mine Workers, declared that the miners in the northern fields and in all parts of the state "will be back to work Monday." Other union leaders declared that more than 50 per cent. of the miners had already returned to work, but operators said the actual number of men at work was far below the union's estimate.

200 ALLEGED MEMBERS OF I.W.W. IN JAILS IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 11.—Nearly 200 men, suspected of being members of the Industrial Workers of the World, were in jail in various cities and towns in the Pacific Northwest today, as the result of raids growing out of the shooting at Centralia, Wash., during an Armistice day parade last Tuesday when four former service men were killed and three others wounded. In addition 26 alleged members of the I.W.W. were held at Centralia and Chehalis, Wash., in connection with the shooting.

E. B. Ault, editor, and George P. Listman and Frank A. Rust, members of the board of directors of the Seattle Union-Record, were released on bail following a raid by federal officers upon the newspaper plant which is owned by the Seattle Central Labor council. The three men were charged with violation of the espionage act. In addition Ault was charged with criminal libel in connection with editorial comment upon the Centralia shooting. After taking copies of papers and records from the office, the paper was permitted to resume publication.

Sixty-one alleged members of the I.W.W. were in jail at Tacoma, Wash., having been taken into custody upon their arrival from a logging camp at Mineral, Wash.

Three men held in jail at Olympia in connection with the Centralia shooting were taken to the state reform

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation Issued by Governor Coolidge

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 14.—Governor Calvin Coolidge issued today the following proclamation setting apart Thursday, November 27, as Thanksgiving Day:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

By His Excellency

CALVIN COOLIDGE, GOVERNOR

A Proclamation

The people have had a year of peace. It has been marked not by sorrow at the departure of those who nobly served a cause great as America but by joy at their return with righteousness victorious. The sense of loss has been tempered by the sense of gain from duty patriotically done.

With peace has come prosperity. Burdens have been great but the strength to bear them has been greater. The condition of those who toil is higher, better, more secure than in all the ages past. Out of the darkness of great conflict has appeared the vision nearer, clearer, than ever before of a life on earth less and less under the deadening restraint of force, more and more under the vitalizing influence of reason. Moral power has been triumphing over physical power. For satisfaction with present conditions there is every evidence, every reason deep and enduring, for discontent there is only the purpose of those who wish to advance the cause of public enemies.

For peace, for prosperity, for present attainment, for future hope, for the power to know and the resolution to do the right, for the peace of mind that has come from duty done, in accord with custom for centuries past, when Massachusetts was weak, and not forgotten now when she is strong, for these bounties, for this vision,

is hereby set apart as a day of Thanksgiving and praise. For giving thanks to "the giver of every good and perfect gift," for giving praise to those who have done His works, in prayer for a strength to see, for a purpose to endure, may the people of this Commonwealth, as through all generations of her history, mark and observe this day.

Given at the Executive Chamber, in Boston, this thirteenth day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-fourth.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

By His Excellency the Governor,

ALBERT P. LANGTRY,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

school at Monroe, following reports that an armed force of I.W.W. planned an attack on the jail.

INVESTIGATE REPORT THAT EX-SOLDIERS PROVOKED ATTACK AT CENTRALIA

CENTRALIA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(By Associated Press)—Officers in charge of prosecuting the 26 alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World, held in jails here and at Chehalis, in connection with the shooting to death of four American Legion members during an Armistice day parade Tuesday, today sought proof of assertions that former soldiers provoked the attack by leaving the line of march to force their way into the I.W.W. hall. Testimony given last night at the inquest over the four victims of the shooting differed on this point.

Immediately after the patriotic parade was broken up by the I. W. W.

insults, reports were current that several members of the Legion had started toward the hall before any shots were fired. This version later was denied and investigators reported finding evidence tending to show that the attack by the I.W.W. was prearranged.

Dr. Frank Bleckford, a member in the parade, testified at the inquest that some one near him in the line suggested a raid on the I.W.W. hall, as the line came to a halt near the building. Several took up the suggestion, he declared, and one man put his feet against the door of the hall and forced it open, before a shower of bullets poured into and over the marchers.

In the opinion of Dr. Herbert Bell, another former soldier, the firing of the first shots and the movement of the legion men toward the I.W.W. hall were "as nearly simultaneous as any human acts could be."

The body of Ernest Everetts, who was hanged by a mob following the shooting, was buried in an unmarked grave yesterday by four of the prisoners after undertakers had declined to prepare it for burial.

PRINCE OF WALES GOES TO ANNAPOLIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The only event on the official program of the Prince of Wales today, the last day of his stay in Washington, was a visit to Mrs. Marshall, wife of the vice president. Immediately afterwards, he was to leave by train for Annapolis, where arrangements had been made for him to inspect the naval cadets. Tonight the prince will leave Washington for a three-day stay at a southern winter resort. He will travel strictly incognito and will make no further public appearances until he arrives in New York next Tuesday.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 14.—A round-up of radical agitators in the northern West Virginia coal fields was begun today when department of justice agents, assisted by state authorities, invaded the district in which, according to state officials, Industrial Workers of the World and Russian and Austrian agitators have been spreading lawless propaganda. As a result of activity of radicals, authorities say, many coal miners have failed to return to work. While United Mine Workers' officials have announced they were "able to control the situation," state executives and coal operators said they feared trouble unless the propaganda was curbed at once.

According to officers of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association, the beer being served at present contains approximately 2 3/4 per cent of alcohol, but they expect within a few days to receive a per cent stock from the brewers at Providence. The board of police commissioners are maintaining a "hands off" policy.

INVENTOR OF DEPTH CHARGE

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 14.—For many months there has been much dispute as to who originated the depth charge that proved such a weapon of attack on the U-boats. Captain Trench, inspector in charge at the torpedo station, has received a letter from the department announcing that Chester T. Minkler of the station is the man who is credited with the invention of this device. It is admitted that England tried to evolve something of the sort but that it was Minkler who in Newport waters worked out the perfect thing that could be used with safety. He turned over his patents to the government without royalty or other considerations.

Minkler's experiments were conducted at great personal peril. He was also a material factor in the development of the mine used in the North sea barrage.

SELL WHISKEY
AT $75 A CASETwo Louisville, Ky., Distilleries Filling Orders
Following InjunctionLiable to Prosecution if Federal Supreme Court Reverses Judge Evans.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 14.—Two local distilleries sold whiskey openly in Louisville today at $75 a case, regardless of the war-time prohibition law. Hundreds of orders, filed before July 1, when the war-time law went into effect, it was said, were being filled by these distilleries which resumed sales following the granting of an injunction to them yesterday by Federal Judge Evans, restraining the government from interfering with sale of nearly a million gallons of "floor stock" whiskey.

Wright and Taylor, and the Brown-Forman companies which received the temporary injunctions expected to sell all of their whiskey in a hurry, it was announced. They made their sales, however, with the knowledge that they are liable to prosecution to District Attorney W. V. Gregory if the federal supreme court reverses Judge Evans in a decision it is expected to make Nov. 20.

Other Kentucky distilleries apparently were disposed not to ask for injunctions and would await the supreme court's decision as to war-time prohibition law's constitutionality before trying to dispose of their whiskey stocks, which are said to approximate 40,000,000 gallons.

The case before the supreme court was appealed to it by the government from a previous decision of Judge Evans, who held both the war-time law and the enforcement acts were unconstitutional and granted the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse Co., an injunction forbidding interference by the government with sale of nearly 60,000,000 gallons of whiskey.

38 OF CREW ARE RESCUED AT SEAAmerican Steamer From Boston Lost in North

by Stray Mine—Crew Rescued by Mine Sweeper

THE HAGUE, Nov. 14 (By the Associated Press).—Two boats containing 38 members of the crew of the American steamer Council Bluffs have been picked up by a mine sweeper near Taraschelling, according to a naval despatch received here.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Details of the loss of the American steamer Council Bluffs in the North sea, as announced from The Hague, were anxiously awaited today at the office of the Warren Transportation Co., of this city, which operated the vessel. The news despatch saying two boats containing 38 of the crew had been picked up by a mine sweeper near Taraschelling was the only information the company had received.

In the absence of any definite word as to the cause of the loss of the vessel, company officials suggested the possibility that she was blown up by a stray mine. They said the 38 men picked up constituted the entire crew and they expressed gratification that all on board were accounted for.

The Council Bluffs arrived at Rotterdam from Philadelphia Nov. 4, and was probably on her way to Dartmouth for coal when lost.

40 P. C. INCREASE FOR METHODIST MINISTERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An average increase of 40 per cent in the salaries of Methodist ministers throughout the country to meet the mounting cost of living and establishment of "minimum salaries" were announced today by the centenary conservation committee of the Methodist Episcopal church here. The new scale of pay will be in effect generally by January 1, it was stated.

The fund raised for the world program of the centenary conservation committee will provide the money for the salary increases. Those ministers whose pay has been increased by their congregations to a sufficient amount will receive no added remuneration from the church organization, the bulk of the increases being for those whose salaries have remained unchanged at low figures.

The average Methodist minister's salary was $1111 in 1918. The new average will be approximately $1500.

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN! WENT COST OF LIVING

(By N.E.A. Correspondent)
HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 14.—Municipal food selling will reduce living costs. This has been demonstrated by Mayor A. E. Amerman of Houston.

Mayor Amerman started this city into the food selling business four months ago, by taking over stalls at the market house and running them for the benefit of the public. Here are the results:

Produce prices forced down 20 per cent or more.

Savings effected to consumers estimated at $600 per day.

Municipal market rapidly expanded because of heavy patronage.

Profit of $15 per day realized at lowered prices.

Only produce was handled by the municipal stalls when they were first opened. The original investment was

QUIT OPIUM TO LIBERATE KOREA

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 14.—"For love of country," hundreds of Koreans in Hawaii are forsaking opium voluntarily in order to fit themselves physically to throw off the yoke of Japan.

The records of the local police court show that many Koreans have presented themselves within the last six months to Judge J. R. Lightfoot seeking permission to enter the Oahu asylum for treatment for the drug habit.

Invariably when questioned by Judge Lightfoot, as to their reason for giving up the opium habit, the petitioners have declared that they want to get into condition to fight the Japanese.

From what can be gleaned from them the Koreans are definitely set on securing their independence and quietly every patriotic Korean is preparing himself for the fateful day.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

OPERA HOUSE

Literary and theatrical lights of Boston and New York unhesitatingly pronounce "A Man's Job." John Me-

$1085. Now butter and eggs have been added to the stock, and in a short time meats will be sold. The city council recently voted the market a credit of $10,000 to buy additional equipment.

Every family in Houston has saved nickels and dimes and dollars as a result of the mayor's experiment. Establishment of branch markets in all the wards of the city is an ultimate object.

Heavy patronage has run the market's earnings up to around $15 per day even at near-cost prices. The earnings have been added to the capital.

The city-owned stalls pay the same rent as those run by private concerns. Salaries of a manager and several clerks also come out of receipts.

"By paying all these expenses, cutting prices 20 per cent or more, and still realizing a substantial profit we have shown conclusively that previous food prices were excessive," Mayor Amerman says.

"I commend the municipal market idea to any city interested in bringing living costs down out of the clouds. It is capable of great development."

The work of Mr. Meelan in the principal role, as well as the support accorded him by the engaging cast, is praiseworthy. If you intend seeing the play during the remaining performances it would be well to make reservations early and avoid disappointment.

THE STRAND
"A Man in the Open," featuring Dustin Farnum, which is being shown on the Strand screen, is a wonderfully gripping story of the great northwest. It's one of Farnum's greatest picture stories and brings to the surface all of the sterling qualities this clever actor possesses. See it and be convinced.

The other feature is one of Gladys Brockwell's superior offerings, entitled "Chasing Rainbows." Miss Brockwell's acting is sincere, intense, convincing.

She is well supported by a cast including William Scott, Richard Ross, Harry Durkin, Irene Aldwin, Walter Long and Claire McDowell. The usual high grade comedy and weekly show is also shown during the week. Next week's super-attraction will be D. W. Griffith's production, "Broken Blossoms," featuring an all-star cast.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Crisp dialogue and sparkling action characterize "Tallcoat," the humor comedy, which is featured at the Keith theatre this week. Grace Dunbar Nile and her associates play the piece splendidly. Miss Hermann, the noted illusionist, creates a deal of interest with her work, and Ben Bernie, a monologist, coils a lot of new phrases. Other acts on the week's bill are: Henry & Moore, dancers; Jack Lavier, monologist; Paulina & Margaret, musicians; and Chappell & Schmette, singers.

state department let it become known that the government had taken steps to prevent their shipment.

The charge d'affaires of the United States embassy in Brussels has protested, under instructions that shipment of the munitions would be in violation of the international arms convention. As Spain is not a party to the agreement, which was designed to aid in keeping the peace of the world during the after-the-war transition period, no such direct action is probable at Madrid.

The order in Belgium was placed with the Fabrique Nationale d'Armes at Liege, probably under the direction of Candido Aguilar, Mexican minister of foreign affairs and President Carranza's son-in-law, who went to Europe recently after stopping here and placing a wreath on George Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon.

The order in Spain, which included rifles, millions of rounds of ammunition and a large number of machine guns, were negotiated through the Mexican minister there, Eleazar Arredondo, former ambassador to the United States and President Carranza's nephew.

Long Traffic With Spain

The Spanish munitions, according to information in the hands of the government, began passing into Mexico more than a year ago while the European war still was going on and in violation of the inter-allied embargo.

Rifles and ammunition and some sample machine guns are reported to have passed Havana on their way to Mexico as late as June of this year. For later shipments, cargo space had been reserved for Oct. 15, on Holland-American line steamers sailing out of Antwerp and further space had been reserved for Tampico, Vera Cruz and Puerto Mexico on Dec. 3.

The United States has been delaying shipments of arms and ammunition into Mexico for many months for the reason that they generally fell into the hands of bandits and often were used against Americans. Soon after the end of the war, the Mexican government asked for the release of munitions bought in this country in 1917 but it was refused.

Such information now comes into the hands of the government shows that Mexico already was turning to European manufacturers for her supply and since has placed enormous orders.

The information also discloses that the Mexican officials managing the

Do You Crave Sweets?

A Very Choice Syrup of Tempting Taste

The liking for sweets is a natural craving. The system requires a certain amount of such food. It acts as fuel. It builds energy. It maintains strength.

Domino Golden Syrup is different from any syrup you ever tasted. So good you can drink it—so wholesome you can eat all you like! And never tire of it.

And of rare "smack" and savor—flavored with just a dash of delicate cane taste—sweet—but not oversweet—and not too "brackish."

A pure, rich, smooth, mellow, full-bodied syrup of a light golden color—of just the proper consistency—neither too thick nor too thin.

You will like it—on bread, cakes, waffles, biscuit. A table delicacy for every meal of every day. Ask your grocer for Domino Golden Syrup. It is made by the American Sugar Refining Company, refiners of Domino Package Sugar—Granulated, "Tablet," Powdered, Confectioners, Brown.—ADV.

affair were attempting to estimate the attitude of Peru, Chile, Argentina and other South American countries if the United States should decide on intervention. That phase of the incident, however, is not regarded by officials here as threatening.

The orders and shipments of munitions are the subjects commanding attention at present and it is known that as late as July tests were being made in Mexico, the munitions were reported as giving perfect results, and the Spanish manufacturers were being urged to fill orders to the limit of their capacity. At one time, it appears, the Mexican government was attempting to make up its estimates of the possibilities of production in Spain by procuring inquiries through the Spanish war office.

"FLU" MAKES GOOD BOY DEMON "SPEEDER"

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun.)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—Influenza has been charged with many a crime, but no more amazing case of total change in a patient's character has been laid to its malignant magic than the case of Don Garret Clauser, aged 15.

"Flu" has changed Don from a trustworthy, bright-faced lad of peaceable and home-loving disposition, to a reckless, lawless adventurer and auto-thief.

Don has developed a passion for speeding—in other people's automobiles—and for "borrowing" the autos to speed in.

The "flu" seems to have wiped out, in Don's brain, all sense of the difference between "mine" and "thine."

And what is to be done about it, juvenile court authorities don't know. They believe it is a case for the physicians. But the physicians don't know what to do either.

Don's dad is Charles F. Clauser, druggist. He says the boy was always dependable, home-loving. After a long, critical attack of the "flu" things began to happen.

First Don showed a disposition to run away from home. Where he went was a mystery.

The mystery was partly explained when Don was arrested for the theft of five automobiles, valued at more than $10,000.

Don escaped from the juvenile detention cell, and promptly went out to Glendale to see his girl. After a visit,

A Nutritious Diet for All Ages

he commandeered another auto, and joy-rode about town by himself. Within 24 hours he was recaptured; confessed, promised not to escape, and was made a "trusty."

A few days later he scaled a high barbed wire fence, appropriated another auto, picked up a boy friend and went to see his girl.

He left this auto somewhere. Next he "borrowed" two horses, says the police, and took a drive. Deserting these, he took another auto, in which he was captured. After an hour with the police, he took a slim chance and slipped away.

Fleeing into an orchard, Don climbed an apple tree and sat on a limb laughing silently at the officers, who gravely discussed his case just below his dangling legs.

The next day speeding along a boulevard in an auto that belonged in Santa Monica, he was rearrested. This time they successfully hung onto the slippery youth, who broke down, confessed everything, and pleaded pitifully to see his parents.

The boy says he doesn't know why he yields to wild impulses. He weeps in an access of shame and repentance after each escapade. The police naturally want to arrest somebody, but they can't get hold of the real culprit—"Old Man Flu."

LABOR UNION MEETINGS

An interesting meeting of the members of the Bricklayers' union was held last evening in Odd Fellows' hall, Middlesex street, with President James Slavin in the chair. New members were initiated and routine business was transacted. The reports of the officers showed the organization to be in an excellent condition. It was stated that all the members of the union are working and that the average pay in Lowell today for the bricklayer is $1.12 an hour, while in some cities the craftsmen are being paid as high as $1.50 an hour.

Woolen Spinners

The members of the Woolen Spinners' union held their regular meeting last evening. President Thomas Farrell was in the chair and a feature of the meeting was the nomination of officers, which resulted as follows: For president, Thomas Dorris and Austin Kennedy; vice president, Louis Shea; recording secretary, Fred Beatty, and financial secretary and treasurer, Frank Riley.

Painters' Union

Routine business was transacted at the regular meeting of the Painters' union, which was held last evening in Carpenters' hall, Runcles' building. The members of the Stationary Firemen's union also held a routine meeting last evening.

BUFFALOES HOLD WHIST AND SOCIAL

There was a large attendance at the whist and social conducted by Lowell herd, 10 Benevolent order of Buffalo in Hamilton hall, Middlesex street, last evening. The affair was the first of a series to be held during the winter months and the committee in charge was warmly congratulated for the success obtained.

The first part of the program was devoted to card playing and at the close of the contest prize winners were announced as follows:

Women's first prize, a scarf pin, Miss Grace Garvey; second, a cut glass dish, Miss Loretta Mercier; men's first, an umbrella, Fred Flynn and second, a set of cuff links, Ellison French.

Entertainment numbers were given by Fred Flynn, Madeline Boland and Edward Davis and later general dancing was started and continued till a seasonable hour. The committee in charge consisted of the following: George F. Moussette, William J. Garvey, Robert Dempsey, Thomas Garvey and Edward Preston.

DICTOGRAPH USED TO SPY ON PELLETIER

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Evidence gained through the use of a dictagraph, the transmitter of which occupied a concealed position within the private office of District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier for more than two years, will play a conspicuous part in what promises to be one of the most sensational civil and criminal cases ever to have been held in the courts of Massachusetts.

Although proceedings were instituted against the district attorney in the supreme court last spring with a view to bringing about his removal from office, the papers were so carefully guarded that no word of it became public until yesterday, when the fact leaked out that the district attorney had discovered the dictagraph in his office.

SENATE DEFIES PRES. WILSON

Reservation That He Said Meant Rejection of Treaty
Adopted 46 to 34

Qualifies Article 10 of League Covenant—Lodge
Offers Closure Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Squaring joining the issue with President Wilson, the senate adopted yesterday a reservation qualifying the obligations of the United States under article 10 of the League of Nations covenant.

A solid republican lineup, reinforced by four democratic votes, put the reservation across exactly as it came from the foreign relations committee and in virtually the language which the president declared on his western tour would but the heart out of the covenant and mean the rejection of the treaty. The vote by which the reservation won was 46 to 33.

The fight for reservations having thus been carried to a climax, the republicans presented for future action a closure proposal designed to bring final action on the question of ratification within a week.

A less sweeping measure, proposing limitation on the reservation debate only, had been put in by the democrats earlier in the day, but rejected when the republicans voted to sustain a point of order against it.

A vote on the question of clamping down a closure on debate will come Saturday morning, and the republican leaders say it will depend entirely on the democrats whether the move rallies the necessary two-thirds to make closure effective.

The democratic leaders were not ready last night to say how they would vote, being fearful that agreement to so sweeping a program might imperil their chances to obtain action on a ratification resolution of their own.

Mother! Teach the Children Their Daily Health Duty

You can't be too insistent!

FEW children find pleasure in the things most vital to their physical comfort and health, so it rests with the watchful mother to see that they are done. The child will be grateful in after years.

Chief among the functions necessary to the upbuilding of the little body, so that it will not be a dyspeptic, constipated body when it matures, is elimination regularly every morning. If the mother will be insistent and allow nothing to interfere with it, it will soon become a habit, a daily routine that will not be forgotten throughout life.

There are times, however, when nature will not operate unaided. Then give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and the headaches, the biliousness, the torpor will quickly disappear. It acts gently and without gripping, and as it contains no narcotics and is pleasant to the taste, it may be given to infants. Thousands of families have been regulated to healthy maturity with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

A bottle can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1. Those who already know its virtues buy the dollar size and consider it economical. In a large family there is always someone who would feel better for a dose of a good medicine like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet tried it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. J. B.
Caldwell, 311 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

by the senate follows:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere with controversies between nations, whether members of the league or not, under the provisions of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

In only two particulars does this language differ from the proposed reservation which the president declared at Cheyenne, Wyo., he would be obliged to regard as a rejection.

bration planned in Nashua, N. H., on Tuesday and at which Wesley Keough, the Lowell aviator, was to furnish the big feature in his plane, was postponed will be put on tomorrow and Keough plans to fly there early in the morning and put his stunts over the route of parade in the afternoon. Afterwards he will take part in the speed carnival to become the Anti-Cigarette League

SEN. MARTIN'S FUNERAL

Committees From U. S. Senate and House Attend Services at Charlottesville

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 14.—Committees representing the United States senate and house of representatives today attended the funeral services for Senator Martin of Virginia, who died Wednesday, after a long illness. The senate committee was headed by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Hitchcock, Nebraska, republican and democratic leaders, respectively while the house delegation was led by former Speaker Cannon.

ARMY STORE DOING RUSHING BUSINESS

Fully 2500 Lowell people are daily taking advantage of the bargains on sale at the army store in the Bigelow plant on Market street, and incidentally handing old H.C.I. a good stiff jolt.

Armed with suitcases of all descriptions, from the snappy travelling bag of the present to old-fashioned "carpet bags" which first saw the light of day in the times of Lincoln and Grant; carts of kinds and sizes innumerable; and even a baby carriage now and again, this horde of bargain hunters swoops down on Uncle Sam's store each day, rain or shine, and never come away disappointed.

And not alone is it the so-called laboring man and woman who are taking advantage of this sale which has been in progress for many days and which is expected to last until Christmas time. Many representatives of Lowell's well-to-do class may be found driving up in autos; doctors, lawyers, preachers, business men and, yes, newspapermen, too.

Besides bargains in foodstuffs, there are blankets of various kinds—of which many prudent folk are making overcoats and mackinaws—rubber hip boots, arctic combination overalls, gloves, underwear, shoes and many other articles of winter clothing.

The articles are in great demand at present. These sell at the modest price of $2.25. The hip boots are marked at $5.25 and the overalls at $2.50. Firemen and policemen, particularly, are taking advantage of these last named articles.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 13. (By Associated Press.)—The Baltic states conference at Dorpat has been advised that Finland has decided to aid General Yudenitch with 30,000 volunteers in a new attempt to take Petrograd within the next few weeks.
This development late today, may seriously interfere with and perhaps speedily bring to an end the efforts of the Baltic states delegates here to reach an agreement with the Russian Bolsheviks.

HOME MAKING, HOW TO BECOME GOOD WIVES TAUGHT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Courses for newlyweds and engaged girls are being given by Teachers' college, Columbia university, which has a "practice apartment" equipped so that four of the students and one teacher live there for a period long enough to put their knowledge to actual test. The course has been running for three years.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Cincinnati has started a class for engaged girls and newlyweds at East night school in the Woodward high school. The class is under the direction of Miss Grace Hobson, for years a teacher of the household arts.

BY BEATRICE JACKSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Teaching girls how to keep house when they find the "right man" and decide to set up a home—that is the latest innovation in New York public schools.

A model apartment—five rooms and bath, including the cutest little nursery imaginable—constitute the equipment at the Washington Irving high school, where Miss Ada Roe, instructor in charge of the "home-making" course, teaches how to make future husbands happy.

Her Own Home
"The real girl of today, the real 'human' girl, wants a home, of her own, and she wants to know how to furnish it and keep it well ordered," said Miss Roe, as she led the way from room to room of the model apartment. "The girl who looks forward to marriage and a home is no longer satisfied to plunge in with no previous knowledge of what is expected of her. To meet this need, our course was instituted. A girl begins to ponder over these things when she enters her 'teens,' and so we have made it a high school course."

There should be no more drudgery to housekeeping for girls who have taken the course at Washington Irving. And the future brides get much more than a mere knowledge of how to buy, how to plan, how to make beds and clean rooms. The apartment is furnished in good taste, and at the same time with strict economy. The girls absorb instinctive knowledge of colors, draperies, arrangement of furniture and artistic decoration.

Like Stage Settings
Miss Roe has covered every detail of Practical duties of housewifery and motherhood taught here.

the "perfect apartment," from the selection of the furniture, to the problem of ventilation and sanitation. The rooms are like stage settings, built without the front walls. It is like looking into a doll house; or peeping into the furnished apartment of a happily married pair of newlyweds! "You would be surprised how many of my girls come back to me with their little difficulties and worries and talk them over," said Miss Roe. "And I am gratified and delighted when I get an invitation, as I often do, from one of my former pupils to visit her in her own home, and find there a working out of the household problems on lines that I have taught that girl in high school."

Able to Afford
The model apartment is just such a one as the young couple of modest means would be able to afford. There is a dining room, nursery and bath. The furniture is simple and durable. The care of the furniture and of different metals, and methods of their preservation are taught. The selection of wall paper and hangings of colors restful to the eye is carefully studied. The cooking is a part of the domestic science course, and works in with the model apartment with great success.

The Nursery

The sunny room toward the south has been selected for the nursery, and it is fitted up with a crib and all the necessities for the care of the baby. The girls bring their baby sisters and brothers to serve as models, but when no real live baby is available, dolls take their place.

"We teach our girls that the finest and healthiest babies have their little rooms with plenty of pure, fresh air," said Miss Roe.

Dish Washing and the Spread of Disease

The following article in today's health letter prepared by the United States public health service, deals with dish washing:

The importance of careful dish washing has been demonstrated by investigations carried out at army camps.

There are two general methods of cleansing the eating utensils in the army—one by which the dishes are washed in boiling water, the other by the "old line method" in which each soldier washes his own kit in water which is never boiling, and may be merely luke warm, and which has previously been used by his comrades.

The results of an investigation relative to about 65,000 troops have been reported in a recent issue of the American Journal of public health.

Where the "old line method" was used, groups of about 200 men used common water which was never boiling, but reached a temperature of from about 100 to 120 degrees F., the number of bacteria in the dish water becoming higher as successive men used it.

At Camp Stuart both systems were in use, about 1000 men eating from tableware washed in boiling water, and nearly 2000 using the older method.

During the influenza epidemic, these two systems were put to the test.

In the first group, the proportion of cases of the influenza was 16 per thousand and in the latter, about 238.

These findings are still further emphasized by a comparison between the prevalence of influenza among the men in the Officers' Training school at Camp Lee, where the men were in close class-rooms but had their dishes washed in boiling water, and at other schools which were held for the most part out of doors but used the individual dish washing method. The rate of influenza infection was found to be five times greater in the latter group.

Similar facts were reported from a comparison of 12,500 soldiers at Fort-ress Monroe and of 800 men at Langley Field, which showed a ratio of four to one in favor of the former where boiling water was used.

At Lee Hall Balloon school the comparison of a total number of 33,452 using boiling water and 32,642 using tepid water has shown 1710 and 2205 cases respectively.

This investigation has been carried further and its principles applied to civil life.

In restaurants and stores the rate was found to be nine and thirteen per thousand among employees where boiling water was used, compared with 240 and 81 per thousand where the hand method of dish washing was employed.

These facts should be remembered and their lessons more generally heeded, especially when there is sickness in the house.

Answered
Q. My sister has been in poor health since the birth of her baby three years ago and her physician tells her she has an ulcer. Would mineral water be good for her?

A. You are advised that it is generally pretty poor policy to undertake self medication, especially when it is based on reading the claims of Hyomel is the one treatment for nose, throat and lung trouble. It does not contain cocaine, morphine or other dangerous drug and does away with stomach dosing. Just breathe it through the little pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit.

A complete outfit costs but little at any reliable druggist and Hyomel is guaranteed to banish catarrh, croup, coughs, colds, sore throat and bronchitis or money back. A Hyomel inhaler lasts a lifetime and extra bottles of Hyomel can be obtained from druggists for a few cents.

RED PILLS are especially suited to women and young girls who are pale and thin, tired and nervous

Pale, Weak and Nervous

I was very nervous, pale, and so weak that I could not even digest my food right. The physician who was attending me had definitely told me that he did not expect to be able to cure me, but simply to give me relief. My case was called: "Nervous indigestion." Just one of my relatives, still had confidence, for she was a fervent believer in RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, and finally persuaded me to give them a trial. I took them regularly and was pleased to notice a decided improvement after a few months of treatment. At the end of a year, my different ailments had gradually disappeared and I began to take on flesh. As my household duties are rather trying at times, I have resolved that I will take a couple of boxes of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women from time to time, just to keep my strength up.

Mrs. ALBERTINE LEFEBVRE
334 Brook Street, Woonsocket, R.I.

RED PILLS, Her Friend for Fifteen Years

It is now fifteen years since I first became acquainted with RED PILLS, and I may safely say that they have been my salvation during that time. I was the mother of fifteen children, so that my daily duties were indeed very strenuous and at times trying. I was tired and feeling ill at ease. RED PILLS proved themselves once again, they helped me to regain my strength, saved me from any serious sickness and made me fit to attend properly to my various household duties.

RED PILLS, the Best Tonic

Being the mother of seven children, and having to attend to all the household duties, besides looking after my children, I naturally gave way and became weakened, and suffered severely from indigestion. Having so often read of the various cures effected by the use of RED PILLS, I decided to give them a trial, and after taking them for three months, I was delighted to notice that I was getting stronger and that my health was improving in many ways. Since that time I have firmly made up my mind that I will always take RED PILLS whenever I feel the need of a good tonic to build me up.—Mrs. J. BERUBE,

Manchester West, N.H.

manufacturers of mineral waters or patent medicines. If you are not satisfied with the treatment prescribed by your physician, why not tell him so frankly and ask him to suggest some specialist. In the long run, to pursue any other course is disastrous.

Q. Can you advise me regarding the merits of electricity as applied to the treatment of human ills, especially nervous weakness?

A. The value of electricity in the treatment of human ills, especially nervousness, is variable, but electricity is by no means the sovereign remedy for "nervous weakness" that the general public has been led to believe, especially by advertising quacks. Inasmuch as reputable physicians do use various forms of electricity to advantage in the treatment of various disorders, it is suggested that you consult your local physician and have him advise you.

THE $100 BONUS

For Men Turned Down Because of Physical Disability

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 14—For the benefit of the large number of service men who have not been given the bonus of $100 because of their discharge from cantonments and naval bases by reason of physical disability, Representative Edward F. Harrington of Fall River will introduce a bill into the special session of the legislature convening next week proposing that these men be specifically included within the provisions of the bonus law.

Another measure which will be introduced by the same member will call for the payment of the gratuity to those boys who were inducted into the service by the draft boards but who automatically became citizens again by their not reaching cantonments or naval bases before the declaring of the armistice on Nov. 11 of last year.

Mr. Harrington was led to introduce the bills, he says, because of the large number of men in his district who have served several months in training camps but who eventually were discharged because of some physical disability.

"There are at least 100 of these men who have spent many months in government service from my district but who have been refused this bonus because they happen to have been finally turned down for physical reasons," said Mr. Harrington in discussing the question today. "I do not believe that the state is doing the square thing by them for they gave up as much as any other service man in order to answer the call of their country."

The attorney general's department says Mr. Harrington, has ruled in a large number of instances that these men are not entitled to the gratuity because of their discharge.

At the state house today he told the attorney general's office that in his opinion the ruling was "absurd" and expressed the belief that his opinion is shared by all the other members of the legislature.

There are large numbers of service men throughout the state, he says, who have been keenly disappointed at their being "turned down" by the bonus department not merely because of the fact that they need the money but because they feel that recognition of their service is being illegally withheld from them.

MISSIONARY CIRCLE; UNION MEETING

Mrs. A. C. Archibald, wife of Rev. Mr. Archibald of the First Baptist church, who has received a call to the First Baptist church of Brookline, was the principal speaker at a union meeting of the Woman's Missionary circle of the First Baptist and North Tewksbury Baptist church held at the home of Mrs. Frank B. Trull, 752 Andover street, Wednesday afternoon. During the meeting Mrs. Archibald's resignation as foreign secretary of the woman's home and foreign mission work of the Merrimack Valley association was accepted, and Mrs. John Thorne elected to fill out the unexpired term. Mrs. Archibald's talk dealt mainly with the need of more funds to carry out the missionary program for the ensuing year and her remarks proved most interesting. Mrs. Fannie B. Trull, president of the Lowell circle, presided.

A Cheerful Recommendation

"They should be in every traveling man's grip," writes Geo. Jenner, 416 Labor St., San Antonio, Tex., of Foley Cathartic Tablets. "They are the best laxative I have taken and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with constipation or biliousness." They thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and benefit the liver. They correct indigestion, bad breath, bloating, gas, coated tongue and other results of sluggish bowels. No griping; no nausea.

Despite the inclement weather, a large attendance was recorded. The musical program was given by Harry Needham, Mrs. S. Robertson and members of the church choir. Those in charge of the supper were Mrs. W. E. Hinckley, Mrs. W. O. Dickerman, Mrs. Eugene Dunbar, Mrs. Fred W. Jeness, Mrs. B. N. Alexander, Mrs. Arthur Gilbert and Miss Eva Fielding. The pastor, Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D.D., called the roll.

Uses Common Yellow Mustard

for Chest Colds and Sore Throat

Old Fashioned Simple Home Remedy Much Used by Doctors and Nurses for Inflammation, Congestion, Aches, Pains and Swellings

Mustard, real yellow mustard, the kind you use at home, is being used more than ever to banish distress and misery and free mankind from agony and suffering. Not very long ago people used to make yellow mustard into a paste, spread it on a cloth and apply it to that part of the body where pain or inflammation was present. It surely did do the work it was expected to do, but it was messy and bothersome and often blistered the skin. People still use yellow mustard when they get a cold in the chest or have pleurisy, lumbago or rheumatic pains and swellings. But nowadays they buy this yellow mustard in condensed form all ready for use for something like 10 cents a box and find it much better, cheaper and cleaner than mustard plaster.

This yellow mustard preparation, which is known to millions as Begy's Mustardine is sold at drugstores all over America and one box will do the work of 50 mustard plasters and it cannot blister the tenderest skin. Begy's Mustardine is the original mustard preparation used to take the place of blistering mustard plasters and is known among druggists as the quickest painkiller on earth. It will pay you to keep a box of Begy's Mustardine in the house, for it is good for so many ailments that you will need it often. Just rub it on, that's all you have to do and headache, backache, earache and toothache will disappear almost instantly. You will quickly find that there is nothing so good for sprains and strains, sore muscles, stiff neck and cramps in leg. Heat eases pain and Begy's Mustardine made of real yellow mustard with other helpful ingredients added contains more concentrated, non-blistering heat than can be found in any box of the same size. Just try a 50-cent box—you'll praise it to the skies as millions are doing every day. Always in the yellow box. —Ad.

WOMAN'S FOOT?

Another entry in the race for popular discussion--this time the shoe dealers have thrust into the public forum the subject of the size of women's feet throughout the country.

Inquiry among the shoe dealers of representative cities shows that the east is out of the running for first place. Honors for the smallest average foot size are divided evenly between Chicago, Atlanta and San Francisco, in which three cities the average size is 4 1/2, the smallest in the country.

Largest in St. Paul

New York follows with 4 3/4. Los Angeles and Washington are a half-size farther away from the goal; and Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and Portland, Ore., come in next with an average of 5 1/4. The consolation falls to St. Paul, where the fact cannot be hidden that the average size is a full 6.

What may be the result of this foot census is moot. Chicago, whose citizens were once popularly accredited with large feet, may argue that figures of the average foot size of Chicago women have been grossly exaggerated in the past.

Others may turn flippant with allusions to the fact that foot size matters not if the woman in question is the "right" one; or that what counts is the manner in which a woman stamps her foot when angry.

Bad Effect on Future

But a sure effect promises to be that the shoe dealers' announcement of the average size of women's shoes worn in various cities spells misery for many women and excess profits of chiropodlists. For, now women may try to squeeze their long-suffering feet into shoes below the average size in their respective cities.

LOW HEELS OR HIGH?

The "common sense" heel for women is good, especially for those who are on their feet for long periods, say will never do away entirely with the "dressy" heel, they think. Heedless of the fact that high heels have been, for

To Set Aside Injunction

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Federal Dist. Atty. Harvey A. Baker of Providence will tomorrow apply for a writ of superdecree to set aside the preliminary injunction granted Wednesday at Providence by Justice Arthur L. Brown against the enforcement of the war time prohibition act. The application will be made in the circuit court of appeals here.

Mr. Baker telephoned court officials today asking for a hearing this afternoon, but was informed that on a hearing in the absence of the judges tomorrow would be the earliest available. It is understood that Baker is acting under special instructions from the department of justice at Washington.

POLICEMAN MURDERED

Three Negroes Rushed Out of Wilmington, Del., To Prevent Clash With Mobs

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 14.—Three negroes, Lemuel, James and John Price, were taken to Philadelphia today by the police to avert a possible clash with mobs of enraged citizens. The negroes are charged with murdering a policeman last night and wounding another officer.

The sale of firearms in the city has been stopped and negroes have been warned to keep off the streets.

The murdered policeman was Thos. L. Soebly, Harry C. Pierce, the wounded policeman, was shot three times and is not expected to live.

The shooting occurred when the two patrolmen went to the Price home to investigate the theft last week of scores of guns from a gun store. The negroes were in bed, but drawing revolvers from under pillows they started shooting. Soebly was instantly killed while Pierce staggered to the street where he fell.

Atty. Gen. Reinhardt of Delaware has issued a statement calling on the citizens to await action of the law. He said a special session of the grand jury would be held Monday and the court would meet Thursday of next week to dispose of the negroes' cases.

COLOMBIA TO CELEBRATE MEXICAN HOLIDAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Mexican national holiday Sept. 16, has been made a state holiday in Colombia. The senate of the latter nation by resolution, has decreed that such an honor should be paid "our suffering sister republic," advice reaching Washington today said.

An album also has been sent to the Mexican foreign office containing the signatures of 5000 Colombian university students, lauding Mexico for her attitude toward foreigners, having reference, it is believed here, to the controversies between Mexico and the United States, over the attempted confiscation of properties owned by Americans. In the dedication of this album Mexico is called "the sentinel of Latin-American nations."

SALE SHIFTER'S OF INFERIOR BUTTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Despite the high price, butter consumers are in many cases getting large percentages of water, salt and coloring matters. Federal standards require that butter shall contain not less than 82.5 per cent milk fat, yet all the butter seized, it was declared, has contained less than 80 per cent, with a corresponding increase in the percentage of water, salt and coloring matters.

BARTLETT SCHOOL TEACHERS' SALARIES

It has been called to The Sun's attention that considerable misunderstanding has arisen because of an article concerning the salaries of the teachers in the Bartlett school under the new contract between the city and the state. Much of this misunderstanding The Sun's informant states, is due to the use of the word "bonus." This word as used in the contract, means a sum of money given in payment for definite work performed by the teachers of the practice school in training normal school students. Practically, this particular type of bonus has been paid to the teachers ever since the normal school was established.

The new contract must not be interpreted as an arrangement whereby any appreciable increase in salary is to be paid to the teachers. As a matter of fact—with the exception of two or three cases—the amount of increase over present salaries is only $10 a year. As to the salary of the principal, it may be interesting to note that the bonus mentioned in the new contract is the exact sum which was paid by the state to the principal of the practice school in 1928.

WILLIAMS VS. WALSH

The clash between Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, was the bitterest perhaps of the entire discussion of the treaty questions. Williams is noted for his aggressiveness in debate and his power of invective. Recently he made a bitter attack upon the Irish race, taking exception to the claims that men of Irish descent took any great part in the revolution or even in the Civil war, quoting figures originally given out from a prejudiced source and long discredited.

As he was sleeping upon a chair in the senate before he made this attack, Senator Walsh hinted that in view of Williams' condition, his tirade called for no reply. The inference was, that the southern senator was in a drunken stupor. But whether drunk or sober, he watched for an opportunity to launch an attack upon the junior senator from Massachusetts, and he put into it all the vim and invective for which he is noted.

Senator Walsh, in reply to his namesake from Montana in relation to Article X of the treaty, happened to say that he was "the offspring of a subject race" which should not be held in subjection by any provision of the League of Nations.

That was the pretext upon which Williams attacked Walsh's Americanism, charging that he was serving the interests of a subject race rather than of the United States or the state that sent him to the senate.

Flushed with indignation, the Massachusetts senator promptly delivered an eloquent and heated reply, refuting the imputations of his assailant by sound logic and argument that outweighed the flippancy and sarcasm of his adversary.

The senator further explained his own descent from a subject race and defended his reference thereto as follows:

"I stand here as a descendant of a subject race. If it pleases you better, sir, I will speak more plainly. I stand here as the son of an Irish-immigrant mother and father. Is that un-American? Have you not heard from the lips of the senator repeatedly of the Welsh ancestry that he came from, and have you not heard him boast of that ancestry? Dare not an American come to the United States senate and raise his voice in protest against America changing its policy toward subject races?"

He presented arguments in defense of his stand upon the treaty, speaking at considerable length against the insinuation that he was influenced by other than the most patriotic American motives.

But perhaps the most notable incident in connection with this debate was the compliment paid Senator Walsh by Senator Lodge when in the course of a brief speech, he said:

"I can say this in addition: No matter what race he springs from—and he springs from one with which the world is familiar, a race of great talent and brilliancy—he is as good an American as I know. I do not think it is necessary to go back and examine every man's genealogy and ancestry to determine whether he is an American. The tests for that are very different, and rest on a man's conduct or his loyalty to the United States in peace and war and upon his adherence to American principles."

It is very rarely indeed that any senator pays such a high tribute to a colleague of an opposite political party whose course in most cases he has to criticize or condemn. But Senator Walsh has greatly strengthened Lodge's position on the treaty by taking a stand almost precisely similar, and of course sternly opposed by the supporters of the administration.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor made a grievous blunder when he advised opposition to the court injunction against the miners' strike. If the A. F. of L. wants to retain its great power, it can do so only by upholding law and order, not by opposing both.

It does not lie in the mouth of Mr. Gompers to say that any court injunction is not based upon law or justice. The proper course for him and the organization of which he is the head is, to comply with the law and the orders of the courts. If he thinks that the laws are unjust, nobody knows better than he do course by which they can be changed or amended.

The executive council of the Federation of Labor charged the government with bad faith in proceeding against the miners under the Lever act, claiming that a pledge was given when that law was enacted, that its provisions would not be used against labor organizations in strikes or lockouts. If such a pledge were given, it was not a matter of record and could not have been offered by anybody with authority to speak for the law-making power. Nobody has any right to offer any class exemption from any law on the statute book, a fact that is also well known to Mr. Gompers.

In the Clayton anti-trust law, an exemption was provided in favor of organized labor so that the law does not apply to labor disputes. If, however, any labor organization becomes a menace to the public, congress might repeal this provision of the Clayton law, which would doubtless be fully as embarrassing to the A. F. of L. as is the Lever act.

It is plain, therefore, that the council was treading thin ice when it charged the government with bad faith, and equally so Mr. Gompers in advising the miners to oppose the court injunction. During the war President Gompers rendered valuable service to the nation by using his influence to quell or prevent labor troubles; but at the present time when conservatism is equally necessary, he seems to have changed his policy, apparently losing sight of the fact that if he sets out to oppose the government in any form, his efforts, whether intentional or otherwise, will count on the side of the radicals. In times like these, it is just as well to remember that those who are not for the government are against it. We do not believe Mr. Gompers has any sympathy with the radicals, and if not, he should be careful not to place himself in a false light by coming out in open opposition to the government.

NEW JERSEY UPHOLDS LEAGUE

The election of Edwards carries a warning to republican obstructionists in the United States senate, observes the Newark News, the leading independent daily of New Jersey in commenting upon the democratic victory in the president's home state. Conceding that there were two important local issues in the campaign, The News reminds that there was a third issue—deliberately injected into the contest by republican leaders.

"This issue," says The News, "was the issue of the repudiation of the League of Nations. By inviting Senators Borah and Johnson here, two of the most irreconcilable league wreckers; by the statements of Edward Casper Stokes, republican state chairman, the voters were informed that an attempt had been made to inject a national issue into the campaign and the republicans at Washington and in the state would count the election of Mr. Bagbee, republican gubernatorial candidate, as an approval of the senate's course toward the treaty and a forecast for 1920. Mr. Stokes went so far as to say that on this issue he would concede 1920 if Edwards, democratic candidate for governor, were elected. Senator Frelinghuysen, through Bagbee, campaigned here for support of his attitude of opposition.

"They have their answer, which they can carry to the obstructionist republicans in the senate," says The News. They cannot now dodge that as an issue, because they made it an issue, and it made votes—for Edwards. Neither the issues of personality, nor prohibition, nor the public service as presented, are quite sufficient, wholly by themselves, to account for such an overturn in a distinctly republican state. Mr. Stokes and the republicans in the senate raised the point that helped to decide the indifferent and unconvinced."

The New Jersey overturn may bear a warning to republicans who seem determined to carry the treaty issue into the national campaign of next year.

THE STRIKE ISSUE

One great issue that is involved in the railroad question now before congress, is the prohibition of labor strikes by railroad employees, and by the same rule lockouts.

The Cummins bill before the senate has an anti-strike clause, but the Enoch bill, favored in the house, does not go so far in this direction. At the time the Adamson law was passed, President Wilson asked for a provision of law that would deal with labor disputes and demands of railroad employees for higher wage and better working conditions.

At that time he recommended that "In case the methods of accommodation now provided for should fail, a full public investigation of the merits of every such dispute shall be instituted and completed before a strike or lockout may lawfully be attempted."

It is quite probable that in his message to congress in December the president will renew this suggestion as a via media between those who want strikes absolutely forbidden in all public utilities and those who would plod on as we have been doing at the mercy of the more radical elements that manage to force the declaration of strikes.

It is highly probable that this middle ground will be favored as a compromise. It would undoubtedly lessen the number of strikes and provide a mode of settlement before any strike could be declared. This is in line with the law relative to labor conflicts in Canada which has brought satisfactory results.

JUSTICE TO THE MINERS

By their action in calling off the strike, the coal miners have earned the sympathy of the American people, and there is a very strong sentiment in favor of granting them full justice, not only in wages but in improved conditions and more steady employment.

The miners complain that they are thrown out of employment whenever the operators see fit to suspend operations in order to force up the price of coal or to await a clearance of the supply on hand.

The government assumed a very arbitrary, though necessary, course for the purpose of bringing the strike to an end, and it should now use its influence with the operators to grant the miners the most liberal terms possible. It should be demonstrated by actual results that when a body of men such as the miners, comply with the government order to abandon their strike, they are not going to be the losers in the long run. The public wants justice done to the miners and looks to the government to see that this will be the outcome of the negotiations now in progress between the parties to the conflict.

RUSSIAN SOVIETISM

It would be difficult to determine just how any set of men ever adopted such wicked policies as are now in operation under the direction of Trotsky and Lenin in Russia.

Some time ago, they declared in favor of nationalizing the women of the country and although the policy has not been carried out to the full extent, yet, it is in operation and its enforcement will depend upon the power of the government to overcome the opposition of the people in having their women dragged from their homes and commercialized by government authority.

The children are torn from their parents and buddled together in large buildings where they are not allowed to communicate in any way with their parents lest they should be influenced against the ruling authorities. They are to be brought up under the Soviet doctrine that there is no God and no master except the rule of Trotsky and Lenin. They are treated like the young of lower animals but with less regard for their well-being.

It is hard to understand how these monsters have thus far escaped assassination. The people must have utterly lost all spirit of resistance, if they submit to such inhuman treatment under the new forms of tyranny which are far more cruel than anything ever practised by the czars.

OUR NEW CONSTITUTION

The Massachusetts Civic Alliance submits to the voters of Massachusetts that what has been adopted at the polls on Tuesday, may not be the final word in the revised constitution. It quotes from a statement of Herbert Parker in the official report of the convention thus:

"I should say to him (Mr. Bryant) that no one would attempt, as we conceive the significance of this new instrument, to construe it as the constitution of this commonwealth without comparing the original text of the constitution and amendments with the rearranged text."

"For the purpose of determining such construction the documents must be examined in comparison one with the other."

It is unthinkable that any committee in charge of rearranging the constitution so as to mite the amendments with the body of the old instrument to form one whole, should have given to the public any such rearrangement without the most careful comparison and certification that while the amendments are all included no unrepented provision of the old constitution has

The Quarrelsome Clock (Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.) There were six small hours which wouldn't stand still. But were always on the run. And just as they started down the hill, The quarrelsome clock struck one. The clock! struck! one!

The clock struck one, and two, and three. He put in some terrible ticks. And down at the end of the hill, dear me! The quarrelsome clock struck six. The clock! struck! six!!!

He chased all the other hours up hill; He made them climb and climb; And whenever he caught them standing still, He struck them every time. Struck! ev' 'ry time!

Then ten hours stood at the very top And two more came to call. And before anybody could make him stop, The quarrelsome clock struck them all. He! struck! them! all!

And when he had worked his wicked I gave him a frightful frown. So he left the hours at the top of the hill. And the quarrelsome clock ran down. The clock ran down.

And he growled "Eight hours you make me go. And I never take time to play. But what would you do, I'd like to know. If I struck for an eight-hour day? An' eight? hour? day?" —EDMUND VANCE COOKE.

First Woman Smoker It is said that the first white woman to form the habit of smoking tobacco was Mary Frith, an English woman, better known to her contemporaries as "Moll Cut-Purse," who was born in 1585. In her time pockets had not been invented and gentlemen carried their money in purses worn at the girdle.

"Moll Cut-Purse" early became an adept in the art of cutting the strings of purses without the knowledge of their owners. She always wore men's clothing. Despite her dishonest methods of making a living, she was good hearted, dividing her spoils liberally with those in need.

In ancient prints she is usually pictured smoking a pipe, and she was undoubtedly the first white woman to proclaim publicly her allegiance to "Lady Nicotine." She lived to be nearly 80, and at her death left a will requesting that the remainder of her fortune be spent in merry-making at her funeral.—Syracuse Herald.

Looked Suspicious An American admiral used to tell the following story against himself. He had a congressman for a guest, and, having run out of his favorite brand of whiskey, made up with some he could not guarantee. He explained this, and added, "Here, however, is some brandy that I've kept untouched for a good deal more than 20 years."

"Hand me over the whiskey, do, canter," was the rejoinder. "Why?" asked the admiral. "What's the matter with the brandy?" "That's what I want to know, Bob," said the guest; "but if you have had it untouched in your possession for more than 20 years, there must be something pretty bad the matter with it." —Edinburgh Scotsman.

UNIONS TO ASSIST IN R.R. MANAGEMENT

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George has offered the Railwaymen's union membership in committee management of the roads with railroad directors and government officials according to a statement by J. P. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Mr. Thomas announces that the government also has made a definite offer of new machinery to deal with wages of railway men and settlement of disputes. Both offers were made at a conference of the premier with a delegation of the National Union of Railwaymen Thursday. The plan will be submitted to the executive of the union today for decision.

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY ARMY CHAPLAIN

Coming together in a social way for the first time since the United States entered the world war, members of St. Peter's Holy Name society held an enjoyable smoke talk last evening in the parish school hall in Gorham street and listened to an instructive address by Rev. Fr. Leyden of Cambridge, a chaplain of the regular army, who saw extensive overseas service.

Rev. Fr. Leyden rendered his services to the government before the country had declared war, and accordingly was with the A.E.F. from the time its first transport of troops landed in France. His information was first hand and most illuminating. He paid a high tribute to the doughboy for the hardships that he endured and told of the difficulty in identifying troops who had fallen on the battlefield.

Other speakers included Rev. Daniel J. Keeler, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's, who told of the rampant spirit of Bolshevism and urged his listeners to do what they could to combat this evil; Rev. Francis L. Shea, Rev. Peter Linehan, John J. Glibbide, Daniel Cosgrove, David Gerow, John F. Sadlier and Bernard D. Ward.

Mr. Ward was toastmaster of the evening and was introduced by President Michael Heatherman. Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Francis Gorman, Raymond Kelley and Charles A. Carey entertained with songs, and Edward Quinn and Richard J. Lyons with recitations.

The piano rendition of "The Palms" by Francis Gorman was a real hit of the evening. The exercises closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire assembly.

The committee in charge was composed of the officers of the society assisted by J. J. Watson, Michael J. Monahan and Richard Lyons.

SMITH RELEASED ON $5000 BAIL

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Even while Marshal N. Smith, 26-year-old ex-paying teller of the National Shawmut bank was being arraigned yesterday morning in Central court answering to the charge of having stolen more than $5600 from the bank, federal authorities were awaiting the report of the bank examiner prior to their taking charge of the prosecution of the youth. Smith's arraignment yesterday was marked with the pathetic, for even after he had been released on bail of $5000 for a continued hearing on Nov. 26, his acknowledged sweetheart and fiancée, Miss Ethel M. Mchoud of Somerville, expressed by her every action complete faith in "her man" and it was obvious that her hope of a happy marriage on November 24 had not vanished completely.

Smith himself was given more demonstrative than Miss Mchoud and was frank to state that he would marry if "she sticks with me." Following a lengthy conference with Attorney Edward Creed, who is defending the youth, Smith and his sweetheart strolled from the office arm-in-arm, apparently happy in the brief respite granted the lovers whose romance appeared so ruthlessly shattered when Smith was arrested on Wednesday.

Letter From Miss Howard

As is to stimulate the determination of Miss Mchoud to stick to her avowed lover yesterday came a letter to her from Miss Florence M. (Betty) Howard, former co-worker with Smith in the national Shawmut, who was his companion on his trip west and during his stay there, protesting that relations between the two were "perfectly proper" despite the statement of police that Smith and the vivacious New Bedford girl had been living in Venice, Cal., in a furnished apartment as man and wife.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT AT COLONIAL HALL

It was a large and appreciative audience that greeted Troupe Sans-Gene of Worcester in Colonial hall, Middlesex street last evening. This troupe of artists came to Lowell under the auspices of Club Citizens-American and they presented "La Rabouilleuse," a four-act drama known on the American stage as "The Honor of the Family."

"The Honor of the Family" was played in this country a few years ago by Olla Skinner, the great English artist, after being translated and at that time it made a very successful run in New York and other large cities. Now it is being presented in the language in which it was written.

Troupe Sans-Gene is composed of artists who have been particularly trained for the production of "La Rabouilleuse" with Miss Sarah H. Girardin of Worcester in the title role. The other members of the cast are all clever and all help materially in a successful presentation. Between the acts, as a little variety, members of the troupe entertained with songs and readings and these numbers were also thoroughly enjoyed. During the evening Harbord's orchestra of this city furnished excellent concert numbers.

PICS ARE BARRED FROM BOSTON TOWN

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Pigs as pets, garbage consumers or economy measures cannot be maintained in the suburb of Malden after Jan. 1, according to the board of health. During the war, hack-vard pig pets were considered patriotic, but during a long, hot summer their popularity has waned.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lowell's "lightning" barber, who asserts that he can give a customer a shave, hair-cut, sing, shampoo and tangle in eight minutes, pulled a new one on us today. We'd like to tell you who he is, but as he made his startling statement to us in strict confidence we must respect his wishes and allow him to remain incog. We've always had a good deal of respect for his opinions, too. Only the other day he told us where we could find five pounds of sugar. Trouble was, though, that when we went to the place designated we found several policemen standing guard over it, so we had to return empty-handed.

However, what we started out to say was that friend barber told us today, seriously and with convincing earnestness, that Uncle Sam had overlooked a good bet when he had neglected to organize the barbers of Lowell—and the rest of the country—into an auxiliary of the secret service. Naturally this rather surprised us. But after Lowell's "fastest" had explained his idea in detail we began to see that his point was well taken.

"Twins never look alike to barbers," said he, the while he deftly clipped a small section of our left ear with his shears. "Even when their own mother can't tell them apart a barber always knows which is which. In shaving a man or cutting his hair we become so familiar with all details of his features that we remember him for years. We learn to recognize minute facial peculiarities which cannot be recorded by metric measurements or any other method in vogue in police circles. The mark of identification," he added, "may be a combination of wrinkles which an ordinary detective never would have noted. But we observe and remember."

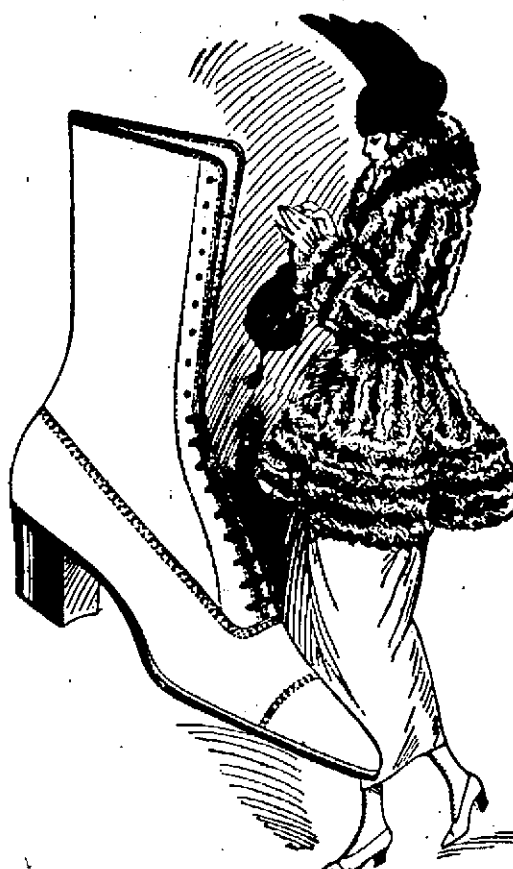

He snatched us with a steaming hot towel at this point, and when we came up for air he was explaining to a tired business man why the price of chickens was so high. So we promised to pass the idea along the line and came back to the office to beat up our Remington for six or eight hours more.

"Got an odd copper, mister?" The speaker is a somewhat ragged little urchin who meets one just outside the entrance of almost all the local theatres. He explains, if one stops to talk with him, that he is just one copper shy of the price of admission. But if we give him the aforesaid copper, he doesn't go inside. No; he tucks his next victim with the same persistency. Perhaps he finally does enter the playhouse, but it is only after he has secured many more coppers than is necessary to satisfy the girl in the box office and not alone at the theatres does one find him. His name is legion—and then some. Outside of howling alleys and pool rooms, hovering in the path of advancing crowds at polo games and boxing matches; at baseball games in summer and football games in fall, one is sure to see him. But no matter where discovered, he is usually an unqualified pest.

If you want to find out anything, ask somebody who knows. This rule holds good in practically all lines of activity and so when I wanted to find out something about moving pictures I went to a local movie theatre manager. "Are we going to have more or less moving picture houses in the future?" I asked. "Is the big fellow going to swamp the little fellow?" I had heard a lot of talk about this and had read many articles which included such intimation. The theatre manager said that it was a certainty that the moving picture theatre which does not belong to a chain of houses will soon have to give up the ghost for the simple reason that producers are going to rent their pictures to the men who can guarantee them the longest showings. For instance, the man who says to the producer that he has 10 theatres on his circuit and can keep a certain picture running for three months without any further worry on the part of the producer, is going to get first chance at the new pictures. The little fellow with one or two houses who says he'll keep a picture going three or four days but can't promise anything longer will have very little hope of booking any of the new pictures. That's why the forward-looking theatre men are connecting with circuits.

While going across the Pawtucket bridge a few days ago I noticed that the storm guards are already in place, but some of the residents of the district claim that the guards are on the wrong side of the bridge, but of course that is not the fault of the present commissioner of streets, for the fence as one might call it, was first placed where it is when the bridge was completed, and naturally the present head of the department followed the same course this year. I am informed that the proper place for the guards on both the Pawtucket and Moody street bridges would be on the north side rather than on the south. There may be some difference of opinion regarding the points of the compass as the two bridges do not run either north and south or east and west.

There certainly was a marked difference between the way Armistice day was celebrated in Lowell in 1918 and the manner in which it was observed Tuesday. A year ago there was noise all day long and the streets were filled continually from early morning until late at night. This year the day was comparatively quiet and not until the theatre-goers began making their way to the matinees did the downtown section begin to assume a lively appearance. As a matter of fact, the theatres played the biggest part in the local jubilation. All the movie theatres had long lines waiting for entrance throughout the afternoon and early evening and it is safe to say that the greatest part of the city's amusement seekers went to one of the theatres. For there was little else to do. But a year ago, what host of foolish things everybody found time to do! The services in the churches lent a quieting effect to this year's observance in comparison with that of a year ago. Armistice day was a year old and had to conduct itself with the dignity becoming age.

RIGHT TIME OF YEAR FOR WINDOW BOX

Now is the time of year that a window box is most practical. In the winter food will freeze if kept in the outdoor temperature, so ice is necessary unless there is a cupboard in the pantry that can be used for storage.

If it is possible to put the window box on a north window it is advisable to do so. The box can be used more months in the year.

Unless one has a specially constructed, dust-proof box, greater care should be taken in putting food away than with a refrigerator.

There are metal boxes shown in the stores that are inexpensive. The saving in ice soon pays for one.

But the "handy man" can manufacture a perfectly good window box from a packing box the size of the window. A shelf will increase the storage space, and a paper lining help to keep out dust.

FRENCH GIRLS AND OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Mlle. Verlet, the "Little Belgian Queen of Song," as she is called in her home near Brussels, is surprised that Americans should ever have thought for a minute that the French girls would win our soldier boys away from us.

"You would not like it if we did not appreciate your boys in France," she says in her quaint way. "All the same your boys will not forget you. While they were thinking how nice those French girls were, they were thinking about their own girls at home, too. And now that they are home you see they have forgotten all about the French girls."

Mlle. Verlet will give a concert in Associate hall on next Wednesday ceremony in connection with the settlement of the war.

MEN'S CLUB HEARS

WAR CORRESPONDENT

Frank P. Sibley, war correspondent of the Boston Globe and narrator of the exploits of the Yankee Division in France, received an enthusiastic greeting at the Grace Church Men's club last evening when he talked for nearly two hours on his experiences as a newspaper writer at and near the front lines.

He spoke particularly of the censorship in force and of its unfairness in many instances to newsmen, who worked hard to convey welcome words to the folks back home. He extolled the spirit of the American soldiers and said that their presence had more to do with the revival of the morale of the French than any other factor. The latter part of his address was devoted to citizenship service and arguments against universal military training. He was intensely interesting for he furnished his talk with thrilling anecdotes and untold tales of bravery and sacrifice.

During the early part of the evening the members of the club had supper together in the parish house.

CHINA STRUGGLES

WITH DOPE EVIL

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—The anti-opium sentiment, which reached its height a decade ago and promised the extinction of the narcotic in China, has completely subsided. Laws prohibiting the drug traffic are ignored and millions of dollars worth of opium are annually smuggled. The latest evil is morphine, imported by Japanese.

PLEDGES OF FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN NOVA SCOTIA AND MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Pledges of friendship between the province of Nova Scotia and the commonwealth of Massachusetts were given last night on the occasion of the visit of Lieut. Governor MacCallum Grant of Halifax, who spoke before the Victoria club.

"A closer bond than ever now unites the two communities," Lieut. Gov. Grant said, "and should the call come the two Anglo-Saxon nations of the world will again join forces to crush any enemy that may threaten."

Among the other speakers were Lieut. Gov. Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts and George William Bentley, president of the British naval and military veterans' association.

GREAT INTEREST IN DANCING CONTEST

Announcement of the plans for the big Merrimack Valley dancing championship contest to open here on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, has brought a number of entrants and those in charge expect a big turn-out of the leading dancers in all cities and towns surrounding Lowell.

Word comes from Lawrence and Haverhill that many of the best terpsichorean artists in those two cities will come here to compete, while it is expected that all of the local leaders will enter the contest.

It is the desire of the managers of the contest to have every one who thinks he or she has a chance to win the championship to send in the names and appear at Associate hall on next Tuesday night.

There will be two hundred dollars in prizes distributed, ten dollars to the winning couple on the first night, and the two succeeding Tuesday nights. Then these winners, with the others who come in second and third, will appear in the grand final contest

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often

due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as Nitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, Nitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Miss Georgia Hamilton, who was once thin and frail, reporting her own experience, writes: "Nitro-phosphate has brought about a magic transformation with me. I gained 15 pounds and never before felt so well."

CAUTION:—Although Nitro-phosphate is unsuited for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

In charge feel confident that their efforts to establish the logical champion dancers in his section will be successful.

Miner-Doyle's orchestra has been secured to furnish music for the contest numbers as well as for the general dancing which will follow.

Lowell entrants may send their names to The Sun office, in care of W. Sullivan.

PLANS MATURING FOR HOME WELCOME

All Pawtucketville is aroused over the fast maturing plans for the celebration which will officially welcome home the service men of that section of the city. A meeting of the general committee was held in the Pawtucket Congregational church chapel last night and ways and means for raising additional funds were discussed.

A tag day will be held tomorrow to solicit money for the erection of a memorial monument in Pawtucketville and already 100 workers have offered their services to sell tags in the downtown streets. They will meet at Associate hall at 9 o'clock. The house-to-house canvass is going on every day and all authorized solicitors have signed credentials to identify their connection with the committee.

The prize committee reported last night that a ton of coal and 25 pounds of sugar have been donated and will go to holders of lucky tickets. D. T. Sullivan gave the coal, while the sugar was secured by Mrs. Lilla Bernhard and Miss Mary Cryan. A considerable sum of money was raised at the recent dance, while the entertainment given at the Pawtucketville school on Armistice day was largely attended.

Treasurer William Rigby reported last evening that nearly $300 was at hand toward the fund for the celebration banquet. This fund is entirely separate from the monument fund. Harry P. Graves offered his services in the design of the memorial monument and a rising vote of thanks was given him. Cornelius Cronin suggested that all Pawtucketville Civil war veterans be invited to the banquet as honored guests and this was enthusiastically received and endorsed. Many other routine business matters were disposed of before adjournment.

Dancing masters say that the end of the war has increased the dancing craze threefold.

AUTO GETS BLAME FOR RURAL BADNESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—At a session of the National Country Life Association, Warren H. Wilson of New York, chairman of the committee on religion and morals, reported that physical and moral damage was being wrought in rural districts by invasions of joy riders. Vicious elements, driven from cities, and their way into the country by motor and contaminate farm and village dwellers, Mr. Wilson stated.

TEWKSBUURY CHURCH QUESTION

At a meeting of the members of the Tewksbury Centre Congregational church held in Pickering hall, Wednesday evening, the vote to take no further action on the building of a new church until the annual meeting in January was rescinded and it was voted to have the building committee confer with the architect, Mr. Bixby, relative to the plans and to receive bids, a meeting of the church to be called later to give the committee further instructions. The meeting was presided over by Rev. H. B. Mason, while Mrs. Mabel Cameron acted as clerk.

No Enthusiasm in Moscow Over Bolshevik Advances

—Men Who Fall Back Shot—

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Because of the serious lack of food in Bolshevik-controlled Russia and other economic difficulties experienced by the Soviet government, not much real enthusiasm is felt in Moscow over the forward movement of the Bolshevik forces, according to advices received today by the state department.

The despatches said that due to the lack of morale in the Soviet armies Trotsky recently ordered forces following up the Bolshevik forces to fire on any red soldiers who fell back. The Soviet forces were said to number only 200,000 men distributed on the various fronts.

FEAR BIG ORE CARRIER LOST

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Nov. 14.—From reports of wreckage off Manitowish Island at the tip of Keweenaw Point, it is feared the big ore carrier, John Owen, reported overdue, was lost in the heavy gale that has raged over Lake Superior through the week. From the description it is believed that the wreckage was part of the upper works of the Owen. Coast guards are patrolling the shores on the lookout for survivors.

The gale which continues with heavy snow is said by lake men to be the worst so far this year on the upper lakes.

FARMER-COALITION CABINET IN ONTARIO

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The government of the province of Ontario today passed into the hands of the farmer-coalition cabinet, headed by Premier Ernest Charles Drury. The premier and his colleagues were sworn into office by Lieut. Gov. Sir John Hendrie.

Only one member of the new cabinet—Beniah Bowman, minister of lands, forests and mines—was a member of the last legislature and none of the others have ever had seats in the Ontario house.

$125,000 FIRE AT NEWPORT, N. H.

NEWPORT, N. H., Nov. 14.—Damage estimated at $125,000, was caused by a fire in the Richards block, the principal business building of the town, early today. A bank and four stores were temporarily put out of business. In addition, the building contained lawyers' offices and lodge halls, all of which were damaged.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very enjoyable party was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, 49 Groton street, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of their son, Henry Wilson, who arrived yesterday at the sixth milestone on life's highway. Henry was born Nov. 13, 1913, and, like President Wilson, he is not the least bit superstitious about "13." The birthday observance consisted of a pleasing entertainment including of songs by Miss Charlotte Preston, Mary Mullaney and Thomas Molloy. The guests of honor, to speak, were Henry's playmates at the Sycamore school and included Catherine and William Brocklebank, Helen and Ethel Lillies.

DEMANDS OF R.R. BROTHERHOODS

WASHINGTON, No. 14.—Conferees for discussion of the demands of the four railroad brotherhoods for revision of working conditions, which have been in progress between the brotherhood chiefs and Director General Hines all week appeared today to be nearing an end. Railroad administration officials believed all arguments would have been completed within 24 hours. There was no indication, however, whether Mr. Hines would give an immediate answer or reserve his decision.

The principal question remaining in dispute is the demand of the brotherhoods for time and a half for overtime for trainmen in road service. Labor leaders admitted this to be the pivotal point, but they seemed to feel that a settlement was in sight.

Questions of wages, which at first were not involved in the direct demands were brought in today. Neither side believed the differences on wages would precipitate prolonged difficulties, however. Mr. Hines was said to have stood steadfastly by his previous declaration that no general advance in wages could be given in serious consideration, owing to the imminent return of the roads to private operation.

SEASON NEARING END TYLER TO LOSE TEETH

Three Titanic Struggles on All But Two To Be Yanked Greater-Boston Gridirons —Cause of Pains in Arm, Tomorrow Afternoon Says Expert

The 1919 football season swiftly is drawing to a close. The grand finale comes in another week when Harvard and Yale clash in the Cambridge stadium, but for several of the large college teams tomorrow is the end. It has been a season of surprises, of enormous crowds, of revival interest after the disturbing days of war and has been featured by the presence of two or three unusually strong and brilliant combinations of players.

One of these strong eleven, perhaps the most spirited and courageous in the east winds up his year tomorrow afternoon with his eyes pointed toward the championship—it is the Dartmouth team at present torn apart by late season injuries, but still a Dartmouth team, big, lightning fast, resourceful. This eleven, knowing not the meaning of defeat, faces a worthy opponent in Brown at Braves field, Boston, tomorrow afternoon. It is the wind-up game for each team.

Hub Football Centre
Boston, by the way, just about rules the football universe tomorrow with the big contest staged at South Boston, Harvard-Tufts and Holy Cross-Boston college. Add to these the Yale-Princeton battle in the New Haven bowl and New England has four pivots from the pudding.

When Jim Robertson, Dartmouth's wonder kicker, was carried from the polo grounds' gridiron last Saturday with a broken leg, the Green suffered a severe setback. The team needs Robertson and badly, but Spears will get along somehow and although Boston yearned to see this worthy successor to Ed Curtis as a booter extraordinary, the pleasure will have to be foregone. Some good idea of the relative strength of Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale may be gained tomorrow. Brown lost to Harvard, 7 to 0 and to Yale by two touchdowns, so if Dartmouth can roll the score up, keeping in mind that the Bear held back something for this last and most important contest, the superiority of the Harvard eleven should be firmly established.

Have Passed Through Fire
Both Brown and Dartmouth have passed through terrific schedules. The Green met Penn State, Cornell, Colgate and Pennsylvania in as many Saturdays, while Brown has struggled against Syracuse, Harvard and Yale. The individual condition of the men will carry much weight tomorrow. Dartmouth is the favorite to win, because of her absolute refusal this year to taste defeat. She defeated Penn State and then came in to win; she trampled Colgate and smashed through to a tie in the twilight moments and saw Pennsylvania get ahead, 12 to 7, but stuck to the Harvard guns and fought out a victory. That is the spirit which Brown must face and strive to imitate.

Another psychological element is that tomorrow brings to a close the football careers of Jack Cannell, Shepherd, Coggswell and Healy. The first named judged by many to be the best quarterback in the country today, tomorrow gets the opportunity to drive a team in Boston, where he first achieved fame as general of the Harvard high school eleven. Brown will mark him and try to cut him down, but Colgate and Pennsylvania tried, too, without success. He is immune from injuries, it seems, and one of the toughest men in college circles to stop in the open field.

Crimson May Get Shock
Over in Cambridge, Harvard faces Tufts. It doesn't sound so much, but a battle will occur. After the terrible struggle against Princeton the Crimson faces a let-down, a breathing spell before Yale comes and it may be a sorry sight for Fisher's eleven tomorrow. Casey, Capt. Murray, Clark, Sedgewick, Steele and the Harvard brothers will be in New Haven, watching Yale against the Tiger. A substitute varsity team will meet the Tufts attack and it may be that the Crimson plays with dangerous fire. At Fenway park, Boston college and Holy Cross renew their time honored struggles. The "Cavanaugh" coached Yale, but has burned out since, due to over-conditioning for a series of terrific battles. Holy Cross has had a fairly easy schedule and has high hopes of victory. B. C. will be on the long end of the bats, however, and should win. Thousands will watch the game.

LAWRENCE AND LOWELL MEET HERE TONIGHT

The Lawrence polo club will come to Lowell tonight to play the Harkins crew at the Crescent rink. These two teams have already met twice this week, each winning a game. Lawrence defeated Lowell Monday night 5 to 0, while Lowell won on Tuesday afternoon by forfeit, 3 to 0. The rivalry between the two clubs is at a high pitch, and a red hot game is expected. Davies who was suffering from boils in the other two games will not be in the Lowell lineup, but Slater a fast, hard working performer will be in his place. Slater played with Lowell the other night at Fall River and put up a fine game. The locals are out to win tonight and will start right off at the sound of the whistle. Lawrence, too, is confident of victory. A large crowd is expected to turn out.

POLO NOTES

While Lowell and Lawrence have always been great rivals, recent incidents have served to increase the rivalry between the ancient foe, and a red hot game is looked for this evening.

A large delegation of Lawrence fans, who now believe their team will win the pennant, will come to Lowell to cheer their players on to victory. Lowell's supporters will be out in large numbers to root for the home club.

Slater, who is filling in at first rush, owing to Davies' indisposition, is an experienced player and working with Harkins is bound to show at his best. He worked well for Worcester last season and the year before played with Lawrence.

200 ALLEGED MEMBERS OF I.W.W. IN JAILS IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 14.—Nearly 200 men, suspected of being members of the Industrial Workers of the World, were in jail in various cities and towns in the Pacific Northwest today, as the result of raids growing out of the shooting at Centralia, Wash., during an Armistice day parade last Tuesday when four former service men were killed and three others wounded. In addition 26 alleged members of the I.W.W. were held at Centralia and Chehalis, Wash., in connection with the shooting.

E. B. Ault, editor, and George F. Listman and Frank A. Rust, members of the board of directors of the Seattle Union-Record, were released on bail following a raid by federal officers upon the newspaper plant which is owned by the Seattle Central Labor council. The three men were charged with violation of the espionage act. In addition Ault was charged with criminal libel in connection with editorial comment upon the Centralia shooting. After taking copies of papers and records from the office, the paper was permitted to resume publication.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation Issued by Governor Coolidge

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 14.—Governor Calvin Coolidge issued today the following proclamation setting apart Thursday, November 27, as Thanksgiving Day:—

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

By His Excellency

CALVIN COOLIDGE, GOVERNOR

A Proclamation

The people have had a year of peace. It has been marked not by sorrow at the departure of those who nobly served a cause great as America but by joy at their return with righteousness victorious. The sense of loss has been tempered by the sense of gain from duty patriotically done.

With peace has come prosperity. Burdens have been great but the strength to bear them has been greater. The condition of those who toil is higher, better, more secure than in all the ages past. Out of the darkness of great conflict has appeared the vision nearer, clearer, than ever before of a life on earth less and less under the deadening restraint of force, more and more under the vitalizing influence of reason. Moral power has been triumphing over physical power. For satisfaction with present conditions there is every evidence, every reason deep and enduring, for discontent there is only the purpose of those who wish to advance the cause of public enemies.

For peace, for prosperity, for present attainment, for future hope, for the power to know and the resolution to do the right, for the peace of mind that has come from duty done, in accord with custom for centuries past, when Massachusetts was weak, and not forgotten now when she is strong, for these bounties, for this vision,

is hereby set apart as a day of thanksgiving and praise. For giving thanks to "the giver of every good and perfect gift," for giving praise to those who have done His works, in prayer for a strength to see, for a purpose to endure, may the people of this Commonwealth, as through all generations of her history, mark and observe this day.

Given at the Executive Chamber, in Boston, this thirteenth day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-fourth.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

By His Excellency the Governor,
ALBERT P. LANGTRY,

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

GOD SAVE THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

school at Monroe, following reports that an armed force of I.W.W. planned an attack on the jail.

INVESTIGATE REPORT THAT EX-SOLDIERS PROVOKED ATTACK AT CENTRALIA

CENTRALIA, Wash., Nov. 14.—(By Associated Press)—Officers in charge of prosecuting the 26 alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World, held in jails here and at Chehalis, in connection with the shooting to death of four American Legion members during an Armistice Day parade Tuesday, today sought proof of assertions that former soldiers provoked the attack by leaving the line of march to force their way into the I.W.W. hall. Testimony given last night at the inquest over the four victims of the shooting differed on this point.

Immediately after the patriotic parade was broken up by the I. W. W.

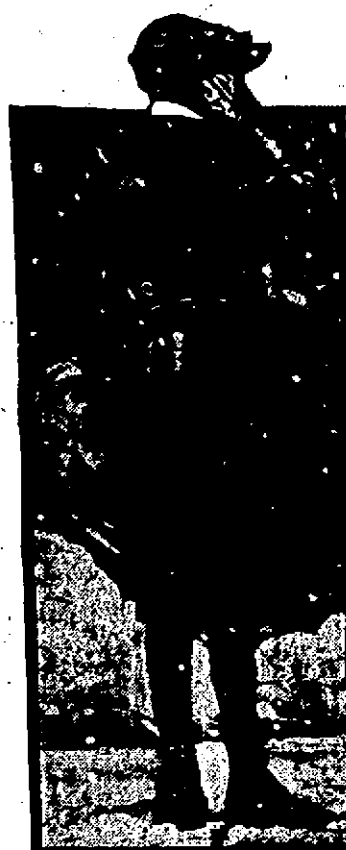

fusillades, reports were current that several members of the Legion had started toward the hall before any shots were fired. This version later was denied and investigators reported finding evidence tending to show that the attack by the I.W.W. was prearranged.

Dr. Frank Bickford, a marcher in the parade, testified at the inquest that some one near him in the line suggested a raid on the I.W.W. hall, as the line came to a halt near the building. Several took up the suggestion, he declared, and one man put his foot against the door of the hall and forced it open, before a shower of bullets poured into and over the marchers.

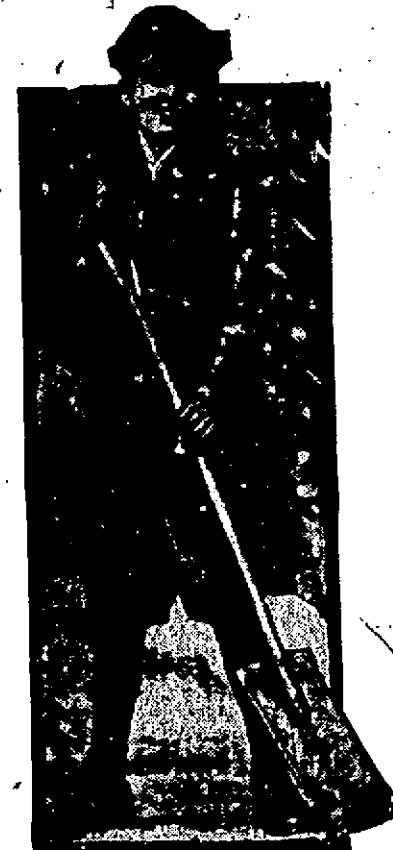

In the opinion of Dr. Herbert Bell, another former soldier, the firing of the first shots and the movement of the Legion men toward the I.W.W. hall were "as nearly simultaneous as any human acts could be."

The body of Ernest Everetts, who was hanged by a mob following the shooting, was buried in an unmarked grave yesterday by four of the prisoners after undertakers had declined to prepare it for burial.
